The Cruiser Belfast:

Anatomy of the Ship Ross Watton,2003-11-01 HMS Belfast: Cruiser 1939 Richard Johnstone-Byden,2013-06-24
HMS Belfast originally a Royal Navy light cruiser is now permanently moored on the Thames in London One of ten Town class cruisers she saw service on the icy Arctic convoys during the Second World War and was also present for the bombardment of the D Day beaches in 1944 Later she saw service during the Korean War As is the case for many historic ships however there is a surprising shortage of informative and well illustrated guides for reference during a visit or for research by enthusiasts ship modellers naval buffs historians or students This new series redresses the gap Written by experts and containing more than 200 specially commissioned photographs each title takes the reader on a superbly illustrated tour of the ship from bow to stern and deck by deck Significant parts of the vessel _ for example the gun turrets and engine rooms _ are given detailed coverage both in words and pictures so that the reader has at hand the most complete visual record and explanation of the ship that exists In addition the importance of the ship both in her own time and now as a museum vessel is explained while her design and build and her career prior to exhibition are all described No other books offer such superb visual impact and detailed information as the Seaforth Historic Ship Series _ a truly groundbreaking concept bringing the ships of our past vividly to life As seen in Discover Britain Magazine Cruiser HMS Belfast Ross Watton,2014-09-24 The largest British cruiser of the Second World War HMS Belfast had an eventful career later fighting in Korea and undergoing a complete modernization Explore the ship in detail through visually exciting totally comprehensive drawings including plans explanatory perspective views exploded diagrams and descriptive keys Ship buffs historians and model makers will enjoy insight into this special ship and its technicalities The Last Big Gun Brian Lavery,2015-10-19 As she lay in dry dock devastatingly damaged by one of Hitler s newly deployed magnetic mines after barely two months in service few could have predicted the illustrious career that lay ahead for the cruiser HMS Belfast After three years of repairs to her broken keel engine and boiler rooms and extensive refitting she would go on to play a critical role in the protection of the Arctic Convoys would fire one of the opening shots at D Day and continue supporting the Operation Overlord landings for five weeks Her service continued beyond the Second World War both in Korea and in the Far East before she commenced her life as one of the world s most celebrated preserved visitor ships in the Pool of London Her crowning glory however came in December 1943 when equipped with the latest radar technology she was to play the leading role in the Battle of the North Cape sinking the feared German battlecruiser Scharnhorst the b te noir of the Royal Navy In doing so the ship s crew made a vital contribution to what was to be the final big gun head to head action to be fought at sea In The Last Big Gun Brian Lavery the foremost historian of the Royal Navy employs his trademark wide ranging narrative style and uses the microcosm of the ship to tell the wider story of the naval war at sea and vividly portray the realities for all of life aboard a Second World War battleship The book is lavishly illustrated with photographs and illustrations and will appeal to all those with an interest in military history and life in the wartime Royal Navy The illustrious survivor of the last big gun head to head broadside engagement at sea The very first complete biography of HMS Belfast Exhaustively researched from primary sources and interviews and written in the matchless narrative style of the award winning Sunday Times bestselling author Brian Lavery An original work of popular history juxtaposing an in depth technical understanding with an highly evocative use of quote and anecdote HMS Belfast ,1982 The Cruiser Uganda Stephen Conrad Geneja,1994 Eyewitness account of Canada s only cruiser in world war two and her part in the Pacific British Light Cruisers Les Brown,2024-04-30 This is the second of two volumes covering Royal Navy 6 inch cruisers of the 1930s and later this one devoted to the second generation designs armed with triple mountings The ShipCraft series provides in depth information about building and modifying model kits of famous warship types Lavishly illustrated each book takes the modeller through a brief history of the subject highlighting differences between ships and changes in their appearance over their careers This includes paint schemes and camouflage featuring color profiles and highly detailed line drawings and scale plans The modelling section reviews the strengths and weaknesses of available kits lists commercial accessory sets for super detailing of the subjects and provides hints on modifying and improving the basic kit This is followed by an extensive photographic gallery of selected high quality models in a variety of scales and the book concludes with a section on research references books monographs large scale plans and relevant websites This is the second of two volumes covering Royal Navy 6 inch cruisers of the 1930s and later this one devoted to the second generation designs armed with triple mountings The Southampton class marked a return to large cruisers but the urgent requirement for numbers led to the smaller Colonies from which all the later RN 6 inch cruisers were derivatives These ships formed the backbone of British cruiser forces during the Second World War With its unparalleled level of visual information paint schemes models line drawings and photographs this book is simply the best reference for any modelmaker setting out to build one of these famous cruisers British Town Class Cruisers Conrad Waters,2019-11-18 Entering service between 1937 and 1939 the ten British Town class cruisers were the most modern vessels of their type in the Royal Navy when the Second World War began Built in response to large 6 inch gunned cruisers in the US and Japanese Navies and primarily designed for the defence of trade they saw arduous service in a wide range of roles playing a decisive part in victories such as the Battle of the Barents Sea and the destruction of the German Scharnhorst at the North Cape The cost was heavy four of the ships were lost and the other six all survived heavy damage in some cases on more than one occasion In this major study Conrad Waters makes extensive use of archive material to provide a technical evaluation of the Town class design and its subsequent performance He outlines the class s origins in the context of inter war cruiser policy explains the design and construction process and describes the characteristics of the resulting ships and how these were adapted in the light of wartime developments An overview of service focuses on major engagements assessing the extent to which the class met its designers expectations and detailing the consequences of action damage Concluding chapters continue the story into the Cold War era examining the modernisation programme that kept the remaining ships fit for service during the 1950s Heavily illustrated with contemporary photographs and drawings by A D Baker III John Jordan and George Richardson British Town Class Cruisers provides a definitive reference to one of the Royal Navy's most important Second World War warship designs

The Last Big Gun Brian Lavery, 2015 As she lay in dry dock devastatingly damaged by one of Hitler's newly deployed magnetic mines after barely two months in service few could have predicted the illustrious career that lay ahead for the cruiser HMS Belfast After three years of repairs to her broken keel engine and boiler rooms and extensive refitting she would go on to play a critical role in the protection of the Arctic Convoys would fire one of the opening shots at D Day and continue supporting the Operation Overlord landings for five weeks Her service continued beyond the Second World War both in Korea and in the Far East before she commenced her life as one of the world's most celebrated preserved visitor ships in the Pool of London Her crowning glory however came in December 1943 when equipped with the latest radar technology she was to play the leading role in the Battle of the North Cape sinking the feared German battlecruiser Scharnhorst the bête noir of the Royal Navy In doing so the ship's crew made a vital contribution to what was to be the final big gun head to head action to be fought at sea In The Last Big Gun Brian Lavery the foremost historian of the Royal Navy employs his trademark wide ranging narrative style and uses the microcosm of the ship to tell the wider story of the naval war at sea and vividly portray the realities for all of life aboard a Second World War battleship The book is lavishly illustrated with photographs and illustrations and will appeal to all those with an interest in military history and life in the wartime Royal Navy

British Fiji Class Cruisers and their Derivatives Conrad Waters, 2024-05-30 A follow up to the author's highly regarded history of British Town class cruisers this book takes the same approach combining coverage of the development design details and career highlights of the original class as well as the Uganda Minotaur and Tiger designs that were derived from them Often called the Colony class they were an attempt to incorporate the characteristics of the preceding Town class within the reduced 8 000 ton limit agreed under the 1936 London Treaty In general layout they resembled the earlier class but adopted upright rather than raked funnels and masts The use of a flat transom stern conferred both hydrodynamic and internal space advantages Not surprisingly they turned out to be very cramped ships which struggled to accommodate all the wartime additions of extra electronics and light AA guns as well as the increased crew needed to man them Many of the later modifications to existing ships and alterations to the succeeding designs were attempts to alleviate these issues most visibly the reduction of the main armament from four to three turrets Nevertheless they were available in significant numbers and gave sterling service across all theaters of the naval war In this major study Conrad Waters makes extensive use of archive material to provide a technical evaluation of the Fiji class design and its subsequent performance He outlines the class's origins in the context of inter war cruiser policy explains the design and construction process and describes the characteristics of the resulting ships and how these were adapted in the light of wartime developments An overview of service focuses on major engagements assessing the extent to which the class met its designers expectations and detailing the consequences of action damage Later chapters continue the story into the Cold War era examining the various post war modernization programs and concluding with the radical redesign of the Tiger class that produced the Royal Navy s last conventional cruisers Heavily illustrated with contemporary photographs original plans and drawings by Dave Baker John Jordan and George Richardson British Fiji Class Cruisers provides a definitive reference to one of the Royal Navy s most important Second World War warship designs The King's Cruisers Gordon Holman,1947
