The Lavender Pit:

The Lavender Pit Martha Housen, 2003-06-16 What started out as a tour of the historic Bisbee Arizona and old Mexico for a group of seniors who are a part of an Elderventure program turns into a nightmare of deception, foreign intrigue, and murder. Ruthann Dempsey is an attractive single freelance journalist vacationing with the group in Bisbee; she endeavors to solve the murder of a fellow elderventurer. All the while enjoying the history, art, and travel offered by the tour, she writes about and enjoys the diverse characters she meets. Thurgood Brewster Goody, a handsome white-haired widower who has taken an interest in Ruthann, joins her in an attempt to solve the mystery. Tennie Woodruff, a sassy 75-year-old woman who comes from Tennessee and is Ruthann's roommate, is busy playing matchmaker for Goody and Ruthann. She was an army nurse serving on Corregidor when General Douglas MacArthur was whisked away to safety.

Hill, 2013-08-01 One of six volumes generated by each GSA section for the Decade of North American Geology (DNAG) project, this centennial field guide contains descriptions of 100 sites or site clusters representing outstanding geologic locations in Alaska, southern Arizona, California, Hawaii, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia.

Reassembling Rubbish Josh Lepawsky, 2018-04-13 An examination of the global trade and traffic in discarded electronics that reframes the question of the right thing to do with e-waste. The prevailing storyline about the problem of electronic waste frames e-waste as generated by consumers in developed countries and dumped on people and places in developing countries. In Reassembling Rubbish, Josh Lepawsky offers a different view. In an innovative analysis of the global trade and traffic in discarded electronics, Lepawsky reframes the question of the right thing to do with e-waste, mapping the complex flows of electronic materials. He counters the assumption that e-waste is a post-consumer problem, pointing out that waste occurs at all stages of electronic materials' existence and calls attention to the under-researched world of reuse and repair. Lepawsky explains that there are conflicting legal distinctions between electronic waste and non-waste and examines a legal case that illustrates the consequences. He shows that patterns of trade do not support the dominant narrative of e-waste dumping but rather represent the dynamic ecologies of repair, refurbishment, and materials recovery. He asks how we know waste, how we measure it, and how we construe it, and how this affects our efforts to mitigate it. We might not put so much faith in household recycling if we counted the more massive amounts of pre-consumer electronic waste as official e-waste. Lepawsky charts the minescapes, productionscapes, and clickscapes of electronics and the uneven discardscapes they produce. Finally, he considers both conventional and unconventional e-waste solutions, including decriminalizing export for reuse, repair, and upgrade; enabling ethical trade in electronics; reuse, repair, refurbishment, and recycling; implementing extended producer responsibility; and instituting robust forms of public oversight.
