

THYROID DISORDERS

What is the Thyroid?

The thyroid is a small gland that is shaped much like a butterfly (shown) and sits in the throat, just below the larynx. The thyroid gland sits just below the larynx. It makes hormones that regulate the normal function of many organs and tissues throughout the body, and also controls growth and development.

When the thyroid is not working properly, called thyroid disorders, it can cause:

- Weight gain
- Weight loss
- Fatigue
- Nervousness
- Irritability
- Depression
- Hair loss
- Heat intolerance
- Sensitivity to cold
- Dry skin
- Enlarged thyroid

Normal Hormone Production

The thyroid gland is controlled by the pituitary gland. When the level of thyroid hormones (T3 & T4) drops, the brain sends a signal to the hypothalamus, which releases thyrotropin-releasing hormone (TRH). TRH is a growth hormone of the anterior pituitary gland, which stimulates the thyroid gland to produce more T3 & T4.

How to Check Your Thyroid

Use these four simple steps to check for thyroid problems. Your doctor will do a complete physical exam.

1. While holding a mirror, look at the area of your neck just below the Adam's apple. This is where you will find your thyroid.

2. Tilt your head back, while looking at the thyroid area in the mirror.

3. Take a drink of water. Look at your neck and check for any bulge or lumps in the area where your thyroid is.

Thyroid Disorders with Cutaneous Manifestations Warren R.
