Consumer-citizen Joel Spring, 2003-05-14 In Educating the Consumer Citizen: A History of the Marriage of Schools Advertising and Media Joel Spring charts the rise of consumerism as the dominant American ideology of the 21st century. He documents and analyzes how from the early 19th century through the present the combined endeavors of schools, advertising, and media have led to the creation of a consumerist ideology and ensured its central place in American life and global culture. Spring first defines consumerist ideology and consumer citizen and explores their 19th century origins in schools, children's literature, the commercialization of American cities, advertising, newspapers, and the development of department stores. He then traces the rise of consumerist ideology in the 20th century by looking closely at the impact of the home economics profession on the education of women as consumers and the development of an American cuisine based on packaged and processed foods, the influence of advertising images of sports heroes, cowboys, and the clean-shaven businessman in shaping male identity, the outcomes of the growth of the high school as a mass institution on the development of teenage consumer markets, the consequences of commercial radio and television joining with the schools to educate a consumer-oriented population, so that by the 1950s consumerist images were tied to the Cold War and presented as the American way of life in both media and schools, the effects of the civil rights movement on integrating previously excluded groups into the consumer society, the changes the women's movement demanded in textbooks, school curricula, media, and advertising that led to a new image of women in the consumer market, and the ascent of fast food education. Spring carries the story into the 21st century by examining the evolving marriage of schools, advertising, and media and its ongoing role in educating the consumer citizen and creating an integrated consumer market. This book will be of wide interest to scholars, professionals, and students across foundations of education, history, and sociology of education, educational policy, mass communications, American history, and cultural studies. It is highly appropriate as a text for courses in these areas. Marketing Management Russell S. Winer, 2000 For upper level undergraduate or MBA core courses in Marketing Management. This text reflects the dynamic environment inhabited by today's marketers, helping students understand the marketplace and the impact of technology to make strategic marketing decisions. Its modern, integrated presentation and strategy-based approach covers critical, fundamental topics required to succeed in future courses or professional work. Halo Josh MacDonald, 2002 An image of Jesus appears on the side of a Tim Horton's restaurant. Cast of 3 women and 4 men. Birds and Women in Music, Art, and Politics Carmen M. Cusack, 2019-10-17 This volume depicts the struggle of birds for freedom, an endeavour similarly experienced by women in the United States and other regions of the globe. It is a prolific study of how creatures interact psychosocially. Sometimes birds inspire humanity and at other times humans desecrate birds. They may interweave seamlessly or may experience indirect and direct conflicts. Their needs overlap and may be satisfied and explored compassionately through analytical lenses including those of feminism, anthropomorphism, and animal rights. They share platforms including art, the male gaze, and discussions about capture and oppression. In this work both are presented as equally adept to survival on Earth. In this capacity the book is novel and fresh In spite of contradictions such as preserving some birds at zoos while causing others to fight for sport birds overall will continue to cause humans to thrive develop and take off and by experiencing their lives through this book humans who share the birds spiritual and spatial realms will develop a keener sense of environmental care and how to make cruelty free choices This book s range is profound and includes original research on diverse areas depicting Martin Luther King Big Bird the presidents celebrities and other notable sources of leadership It also considers influential zoos and several preservation sites In all it is a well founded work that demonstrates care in research and argument
