

Love Unspoken

Thoughts unspoken, feeling not expressed

A love so secret I dared not reveal

Only with my actions did I confess

A love for you that was anonymous

If only you knew, if I could only declare

The message from my heart of love so real

A love unbiased, a love so pure

A love undaunted, a love so sure

Time stood still, it was unaware

Time was unforgiving to my regret

Of thoughts unspoken and feeling not expressed

And a love was lost without redress

Unspoken Love:

Love's Garden Peggy Rowe-Ward, Larry Ward, 2008-05-10 A collection of real life Buddhist love stories with commentary and guided exercises for couples developed by Peggy Rowe Ward and Larry Ward senior students and ordained Dharma teachers in the tradition of Zen Master Thich Nhat Hanh These personal stories from couples of a range of different ages and experiences illustrate how Buddhist principles can help couples navigate any stage of their relationship It took the authors some good living and good loving before they realized that the love that they were seeking was already present and available in the depths of their hearts and mind Love does not depend on anything that is happening Out There and is not dependent on anything he or she might do It depends on our own willingness to look within and to act This insight is a result of practicing the teachings of the Buddha on right diligence and right effort The authors have been studying and practicing with Zen master Thich Nhat Hanh and they are happy to report that the practices work In iLove's Garden the authors offer key practices such as The Three Keys see excerpt for the transformation of suffering and the establishment of happiness These practices have helped them see each other's happiness as their own They share stories and illustrations from their own life and also and those of their friends and students
The practice is not difficult We simply need to get in touch with and nourish the practices that are helping us to experience peace And then we need to stop doing the things that keep us from experiencing peace Larry Ward
