Young In One Another's Arms:

The Young in One Another's Arms Jane Rule, 1990 Profiles in Canadian Literature Jeffrey M. Heath, 1991-09-01 A series of essays on Canadian authors profiling the writers work providing insight into themes and giving a chronology of the authors life

The Urban Condition: Literary Trajectories through Canada's Postmetropolis Eva Darias-Beautell, 2019-04-30 Examining the centrality of the city in Canadian literary production post 1960 this collection of critical essays presents an interdisciplinary representation of the urban from a variety of backgrounds and perspectives By analysing contemporary Canadian literature in English the contributors intend to produce not only an alternative picture of the national literary traditions but also fresh articulations of the relationship between Canadian identity citizenship and nation Since the 1960s metropolitan regions across the world have experienced radical transformation For critical urban studies scholars this phenomenon has been described as a restructuring This study argues that in Canada this restructuring has been accompanied by a literary rearrangement of its canon consisting of a gradual shift of focus from the wild or rural to the urban Alluding to the changes within contemporary Canadian cities the term postmetropolis locates the contributors shared theoretical framework within a critical postmodern paradigm Centered on a particular selection of poetic or fictional texts each essay pushes the theoretical framework further suggesting the need for new tools of interpretation and analysis This book presents an urban literary portrait of Canada that is both thematically and conceptually coherent Using a range of interdisciplinary methodologies it adeptly navigates a range of urban issues such as surveillance asylum diaspora mobility the queer and the post political This book will be of interest to those studying or working on Canadian literature both in Canada and internationally as well as to those scholars engaged in investigations that intersect literature and urban studies

Passionate Communities Marilyn R. Schuster, 1999-06-01 In this new full length study of Jane Rule s life and work Marilyn Schuster argues that Rule s novels provide a way of writing and reading lesbian that resists and subverts dominant discourses of gender and sexuality both those of mainstream culture and of political and sexual subcultures From her earliest novel Desert of the Heart 1964 Rule s fiction has provided a challenge to the concept of a fixed identity and to the identity politics founded on such a concept Incorporating all of Jane Rule s early work including unpublished manuscripts letters magazine and newspaper columns as well as fan mail she received Schuster also draws on interviews conversations and personal encounters with the author to elicit the ways in which Rule interrogates the meanings and politics of sexuality the relationship between sexuality and language and the stakes of communities in individual claims on identity Passionate Communities is a thorough engaging and long overdue study of an important voice in lesbian literature and gay and lesbian politics

Cultural Studies and Environment, Revisited Phaedra. C Pezzullo, 2013-10-31 The environment is perhaps most misunderstood as a static place somewhere out there separated from the practices of our everyday lives Given this assumption environmental movements and concerns have remained mostly marginalized or denigrated in cultural studies publications conferences and presentations Recent global developments have made changing this oversight and at times direct resistance to engaging environmental concerns a new priority This edited collection illustrates an appreciation of the dynamic palpable and significant ways the environment permeates culture and vice versa as well as a collective commitment to the ways that cultural studies has more to offer and to learn from taking environmental matters to heart Like foundational categories of identity economics and historical context this collection reminds us why the environment is and should be considered relevant to any work done in the name of cultural studies Including research from four continents and across media the authors offer insights on timely topics such as food tourism human animal relations forests queer theory indigenous rights and water This book was published as a special issue of Cultural Studies

The Young in One Another's Arms Jane Rule, 2016-02-23 An award winning novel of lesbian identity and camaraderie amid violence and war Ruth Wheeler is the one armed caretaker of a motley crew of boarders living in her rooming house in Vancouver British Columbia The miscreants and outcasts in residence include a sexually confused academic a one time dope addict turned law student a high minded deserter of the Vietnam War a socially conscious female radical and a gay man on the run from the cops Despite personal differences and a turbulent outside world teeming with police brutality the renters affection for one another grows and they form a progressive and idealistic chosen family However Ruth's devoted and assimilative spirit is put to the test when her property is slated to be destroyed by developers The household packs up and sails to Galiano Island where they establish a new home start a business and strive to overcome the initial antipathy of their neighbors They even decide to collectively raise a baby born from an unwanted pregnancy Winner of the 1978 Canadian Authors Association Best Novel of the Year Award The Young in One Another's Arms stands as one of the most sophisticated portrayals of an alternative model for domestic life
