The Bad Voice:

Paul Robeson's Voices Grant Olwage, 2023-11-20 Paul Robeson's Voices is a meditation on Robeson's singing a study of the artist's life in song Music historian Grant Olwage examines Robeson's voice as it exists in two broad and intersecting domains as sound object and sounding gesture specifically how it was fashioned in the contexts of singing practices in recital concert and recorded performance and as subject of identification Olwage asks how does the voice encapsulate modes of subjectivity of being Combining deep archival research with musicological theory this book is a study of voice as central to Robeson's sense of self and his politics Paul Robeson's Voices charts the dialectal process of Robeson's vocal and self discovery documenting some of the ways Robeson's practice revised the traditions of concert singing in the first half of the twentieth century and how his voice manifested as resistance Psychoanalysis and Performance Patrick Campbell, Adrian Kear, 2001 The field of literary studies has long recognised the centrality of psychoanalysis as a method for looking at texts in a new way But rarely has the relationship between psychoanalysis and performance been mapped out either in terms of analysing the nature of performance itself or in terms of making sense of specific performance related activities In this volume some of the most distinguished thinkers in the field make this exciting new connection and offer original perspectives on a wide variety of topics including hypnotism and hysteria ventriloquism and the body dance and sublimation the unconscious and the rehearsal process melancholia and the uncanny cloning and theatrical mimesis censorship and activist performance theatre and social memory The arguments advanced here are based on the dual principle that psychoanalysis can provide a productive framework for understanding the work of performance and that performance itself can help to investigate the problematic of identity What the Flick?
