Thucydides' War Narrative Carolyn Dewald, 2005 Carolyn Dewald presents an in depth study of the changing narrative principles in Thucydides History of the Peloponnesian War rigorously analysing how the various elements are structured used and related to each other

Thucydides : Narrative and Explanation Tim Rood, 2004-08-05 War is a harsh teacher wrote Thucydides in the fifth century BC Rood analyses the techniques through which Thucydides narrative explains the origin and course of the Peloponnesian War and exposes harsh truths about how individuals and states behave Rood concentrates on how the use of techniques such as selectivity interaction of speech and narrative and manipulation of time and perspective points at one level to general human constraints at another to the self destructiveness of Athens imperial power The book explores some techniques that have received little attention and offers new ways of reading others it gives new insight into Thucydides sophistication and the way he relates to his predecessors It is also important for its attempts to refute views that Thucydides History is made up of different compositional strata or inspired by pro Athenian bias And it addresses directly the way modern historians use Thucydides contributes to the contemporary debate over narrative history and shows the value of applying some of the concepts of recent narrative theory to historical texts

Suspense in Ancient Greek Literature Ioannis M. Konstantakos, Vasileios Liotsakis, 2021-02-22 The use of suspense in ancient literature attracts increasing attention in modern scholarship but hitherto there has been no comprehensive work analysing the techniques of suspense through the various genres of the Classical literary canon This volume aspires to fill such a gap exploring the phenomenon of suspense in the earliest narrative writings of the western world the literature of the ancient Greeks The individual chapters focus on a wide range of poetic and prose genres epic drama historiography oratory novel and works of literary criticism and examine the means by which ancient authors elicited emotions of tense expectation and fearful anticipation for the outcome of the story the development of the plot or the characters' fate A variety of theoretical tools from narratology and performance studies to psychological and cognitive approaches are exploited to study the operation of suspense in the works under discussion. Suspenseful effects are analysed in a double perspective both in terms of the artifices employed by authors and with regard to the responses and experiences of the audience. The volume will be useful to classical scholars, narratologists and literary historians and theorists.

Present Shock in Late Fifth-Century Greece

Francis M. Dunn, 2010-02-09

Francis M. Dunn's Present Shock in Late Fifth Century Greece examines the widespread social and cultural disorientation experienced by Athenians in a period that witnessed the revolution of 411 B.C.E. and the military misadventures in 413 and 404, a disturbance as powerful as that described in Alvin Toffler's Future Shock. The late fifth century was a time of vast cultural and intellectual change, ultimately leading to a shift away from Athenians' traditional tendency to seek authority in the past toward a greater reliance on the authority of the present. At the same time, Dunn argues, writers and thinkers not only registered the shock but explored ways to adjust to living with this new sense of uncertainty. Using literary case studies from this period, Dunn shows how narrative techniques changed to focus on depicting a world in which events were no longer wholly predetermined by the past, impressing upon readers the rewards and challenges of struggling to find their own way forward. Although Present Shock in Late Fifth Century Greece concentrates upon the late fifth century, this book's interdisciplinary approach will be of broad interest to scholars and students of ancient Greece as well as anyone fascinated by the remarkably flexible human understanding of time.

Francis M. Dunn is Professor of Classics at the University of California, Santa Barbara. He is author of Tragedy's End: Closure and Innovation in Euripidean Drama (Oxford, 1996) and coeditor of Beginnings in Classical Literature (Cambridge, 1992) and Classical Closure: Reading the End in Greek and Latin Literature (Princeton, 1997). In this fascinating study, Francis Dunn argues that in late fifth-century Athens, life became focused on the present, that moving instant between past and future. Time itself changed: new clocks and calendars were developed, and narratives were full of suspense, accident, and uncertainty about things to come. Suddenly, future shock was now.

David Konstan, John Rowe Workman, Distinguished Professor of Classics and the Humanistic Tradition and Professor of Comparative Literature, Brown University. In this fascinating work, Dunn examines the ways in which the Greeks constructed time and then shows how these can shed new light on various philosophical, dramatic, historical, scientific, and rhetorical texts of the late fifth century. An original and most interesting study.

Michael Gagarin, James R. Dougherty, Jr., Centennial Professor of Classics, the University of Texas at Austin. Interesting, clear, and compelling. Present Shock in Late Fifth Century Greece analyzes attitudes toward time in ancient Greece, focusing in particular on what Dunn terms "present shock," in which rapid cultural change undermined the authority of the past and submerged individuals in a disorienting present in late fifth-century Athens. Dunn offers smart and lucid analyses of a variety of complex texts, including pre-Socratic and sophistic philosophy, Euripidean tragedy, Thucydides, and medical texts, making an important contribution to discussions about classical Athenian thought that will be widely read and cited by scholars working on Greek cultural history and
