The Way of Lovers: The Oxford Anonymous Commentary on the Song of Songs (Bodleian Library, MS Opp.

625) Sara Japhet, Barry Dov Walfish, 2017-06-12 This extraordinary commentary by a late twelfth century anonymous northern French exegete interprets the Song of Songs solely according to its plain meaning as a story of two young lovers and their developing relationship. The exegete pays attention to every detail of the text offering many enlightening insights into its meaning all the while expanding upon the way of lovers the ways that young people in love go about their lovemaking. The French background of the exegete is made clear by numerous references to knights coats of arms weapons chivalry and of course wine drinking. The edition is accompanied by an English translation and extensive introduction which analyzes the various linguistic literary and exegetical features of the text. Love First Colette Potts, 2018-08-17 Struggling to offer a children's program that resonates with young families Finding it difficult to recruit teachers and volunteers for your children's program Want a children's ministry that is grounded in Christ's foundational teachings and relevant to the experiences of children today This must have guide to rethinking your children's ministry is informed and intelligent with the lighthearted humor so helpful to working with children Through storytelling testimonials and research based creativity you'll be inspired and energized to use your church's gifts your children's interests and your families needs to develop a children's ministry that fits your church and the people in it An appendix includes sample lesson plans suggested Bible stories and book and sermons Colette Potts offers a successful model for a congregation to turn around their children's ministry program to engage the whole congregation in worship learning and service while partnering with parents for bridging the formation gap between Sunday morning at church and the rest of the week at home and beyond Close Encounters Andrew Davison, 2025-03-25 What would it look like to approach data with the care and attentiveness that we bring to a poem Andrew Davison proposes a new philosophy of data modeled on the affective and ethical qualities of the encounter between a reader and a literary text and demonstrates its significance for understanding urgent social and political issues In a cross disciplinary engagement with philosophical literary and political theoretical accounts of poetic experience Close Encounters challenges the philosophical underpinnings of dominant approaches to data analysis Instead Davison argues social scientists should treat their data with the same close attention and ethical responsibility that are accorded to literary texts In this view quantitative and qualitative data are not only collected coded or constructed they are entrusted to the care of their recipient Such attunement yields original insight into silenced erased and neglected subaltern dimensions of the data Davison demonstrates how this methodology provides fresh perspective on pressing topics such as immigration border politics torture war Trumpism violent political speech medical care criminal justice algorithmic governance and the COVID 19 pandemic Bringing together a strikingly original theorization of data with a rich array of examples Close Encounters shows why the skills and methods of literary inquiry are essential to ethically sensitive data analysis The Unit ,1897 The Analogical
