Housing, the Environment, and Our Changing Climate Christoph Sinn,John Perry,2008 The climate is changing and this book aims to capture both ways in which this is true First the global warming which is taking place as our atmosphere is forced to absorb ever more man made carbon dioxide is now an indisputable reality It is not too late to prevent the worst effects of such climate change but in any event it will have a profound impact on the way we live and the kinds of houses we need Second the climate is changing albeit slowly in terms of the response by the housing world to the challenge of global warming Government has instigated a radical approach to environmental standards for new housing but has arguably been slower to realise the urgency of action to tackle poor environmental standards in the existing housing stock This completely new version of the earlier book Housing and the Environment A new agenda concentrates on the linked issues of climate change fuel shortages and fuel poverty Heating, Cooling, Lighting Norbert Lechner,2001 Providing a qualitative visual approach to heating cooling and lighting techniques this book reflects and supports the decision making process of architects involved in developing schematic designs Based on a three tier approach load avoidance optimum use of natural energies and the selection of appropriate mechanical equipment the book seeks to aid designers in providing all of a building s thermal and lighting needs while minimizing energy consumption and maximizing sustainability It provides information on thermal comfort mechanical heating and cooling systems climate passive heating and cooling shading site planning daylight and artificial lighting and conservation Sun path diagrams sizing tables case studies and approximately 1 000 photographs are included Lechner teaches architecture at Auburn University Synerjy ,1996 Green Building Challenge '98 Canada.
