The Making of a Catholic President Shaun Casey,2009-01-23 The 1960 presidential election won ultimately by John F Kennedy was one of the closest and most contentious in American history The country had never elected a Roman Catholic president and the last time a Catholic had been nominated New York Governor Al Smith in 1928 he was routed in the general election From the outset Kennedy saw the religion issue as the single most important obstacle on his road to the White House He was acutely aware of and deeply frustrated by the possibility that his personal religious beliefs could keep him out of the White House In The Making of a Catholic President Shaun Casey tells the fascinating story of how the Kennedy campaign transformed the religion question from a liability into an asset making him the first and still only Catholic president Drawing on extensive archival research including many never before seen documents Casey takes us inside the campaign to show Kennedy's chief advisors Ted Sorensen John Kenneth Galbraith Archibald Cox grappling with the staunch opposition to the candidate's Catholicism Casey also reveals for the first time many of the Nixon campaign's efforts to tap in to anti Catholic sentiment with the aid of Billy Graham and the National Association of Evangelicals among others The alliance between conservative Protestants and the Nixon campaign he shows laid the groundwork for the rise of the Religious Right This book will shed light on one of the most talked about elections in American history as well as on the vexed relationship between religion and politics more generally With clear relevance to our own political situation where politicians religious beliefs seem more important and more volatile than ever The Making of a Catholic President offers rare insights into one of the most extraordinary presidential campaigns in American history

The expression of information structure in Bantu Jenneke van der Wal,2025-03-18 The Bantu language family is spread over a large area of Africa stretching from Cameroon to Kenya to South Africa and comprises an estimated 555 languages The languages show a large amount of small scale variation while at the same time forming part of one relatively uniform family within Niger Congo Interestingly the morphosyntax of these languages has been observed to be heavily influenced by information structure Studying the expression of information structure in Bantu is therefore of great importance not only for developing cognitive models of the role of information structure in language but also for understanding the basic grammatical structure of the Bantu languages themselves Before modelling the interaction between syntax and information structure in Bantu however a thorough empirical description of the expression of information structure in Bantu should be available That description is what this book aims to provide This book follows from a systematic investigation of information structure in the languages of the BaSIS research project Bantu Syntax and Information Structure The data come from original field research conducted using the BaSIS methodology which was specifically developed to investigate the expression of information structure in Bantu The book contains a comprehensive introduction chapter which explains the main terms and issues in the field of information structure the methodology employed in the project and common structures which characterise topic and focus expression in Bantu The introduction is then followed by eight chapters which each give detailed descriptive overviews of the expression of information structure in a different Bantu language namely Tunen Guthrie classification A44 Cameroon Teke Kukuya B77 Congo K tharaka E54 Kenya Kirundi JD62 Burundi Rukiga JE14 Uganda Kinyakyusa M31 Tanzania Makhuwa Enahara P31 Mozambique and Cicopi S61 Mozambique Taken together the book provides detailed information on the expression of information structure in the Bantu family It is intended both to inform future theoretical work and to provide a methodology and model for the investigation of information structure that can be used in studies of other languages
