

'God says', 'God says':

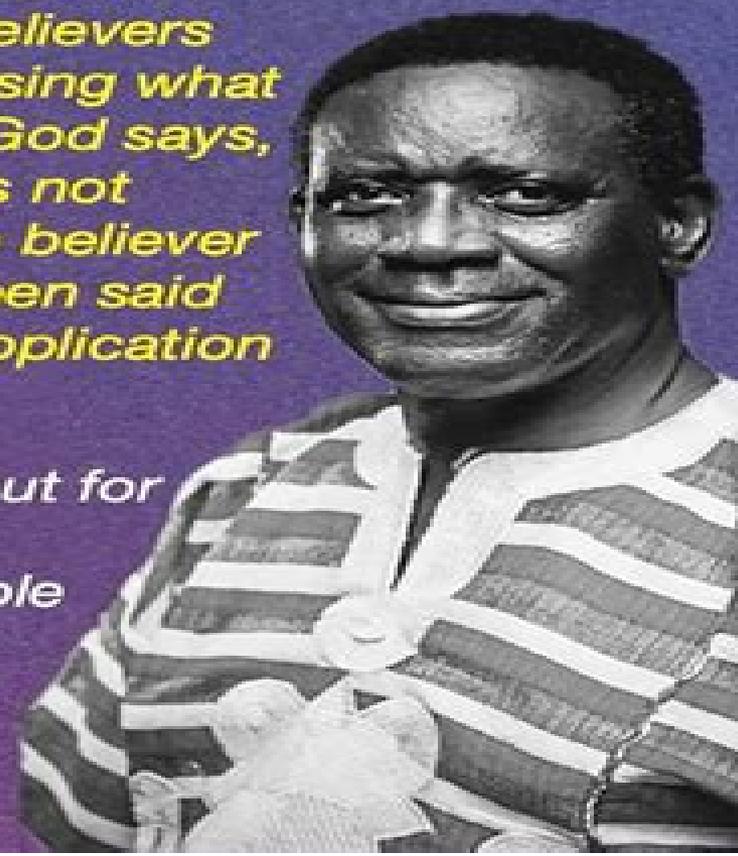

Many so called men of God have become propaganda pastors. Why so?

They consistently pronounce Biblical promises of God which are well known in scriptures, available and read by all.

A pastor or a shepherd must be a person who can help converts and other believers not only to hear what God says, or sing what God says or make a claim of what God says, which many are doing and yet life is not getting any better, but also help the believer bring God's word from what has been said into real life situation through the application of Biblical values and principles.

God's word is not for propaganda but for life, experientially powerful both to transform individual lives and disciple the nations!

The Samaritan Strategy:

The Samaritan Strategy Colonel V. Doner, 1988 Discipling Nations Darrow L. Miller, Stan Guthrie, 2001-08 The power of the gospel to transform individual lives has been evident throughout New Testament history But what of the darkness and poverty that enslave entire nations Miller builds a powerful convincing thesis that God's truth can free whole societies from deception and poverty Excellent study of worldviews The Samaritan's Dilemma Clark C. Gibson, Krister Andersson, The late Elinor Ostrom, Sujai Shivakumar, 2005-09-08 What's wrong with foreign aid Many policymakers aid practitioners and scholars have called into question its ability to increase economic growth alleviate poverty or promote social development At the macro level only tenuous links between development aid and improved living conditions have been found At the micro level only a few programs outlast donor support and even fewer appear to achieve lasting improvements The authors of this book argue that much of aid's failure is related to the institutions that structure its delivery These institutions govern the complex relationships between the main actors in the aid delivery system and often generate a series of perverse incentives that promote inefficient and unsustainable outcomes In their analysis the authors apply the theoretical insights of the new institutional economics to several settings First they investigate the institutions of Sida the Swedish aid agency to analyze how that aid agency's institutions can produce incentives inimical to desired outcomes contrary to the desires of its own staff Second the authors use cases from India a country with low aid dependence and Zambia a country with high aid dependence to explore how institutions on the ground in recipient countries also mediate the effectiveness of aid Throughout the book the authors offer suggestions about how to improve aid's effectiveness These suggestions include how to structure evaluations in order to improve outcomes how to employ agency staff to gain from their on the ground experience and how to engage stakeholders as owners in the design resource mobilization learning and evaluation processes of development assistance programs The Crusader Strategy Steve Tibble, 2020-08-04 A new look at the crusaders which shows how they pursued long term plans and clear strategic goals Medieval states and particularly crusader societies often have been considered brutish and culturally isolated It seems unlikely that they could develop strategy in any meaningful sense However the crusaders were actually highly organized in their thinking and their decision making was rarely random In this lively account Steve Tibble draws on a rich array of primary sources to reassess events on the ground and patterns of behavior over time He shows how from aggressive castle building to implementing a series of invasions of Egypt crusader leaders tenaciously pursued long term plans and devoted single minded attention to clear strategic goals Crusader states were permanently on the brink of destruction resources were scarce and the penalties for failure severe Intuitive strategic thinking Tibble argues was a necessity not a luxury God's Remarkable Plan for the Nations Lois Allen, Darrow Miller, 2005 Many of us live in cultures that honor fame We often hear about celebrities who are rich talented or leaders in some way Sometimes even evil or eccentric or humorous people become famous But one of the most significant people of all
