The White Museum:

From Museum Critique to the Critical Museum Katarzyna Murawska-Muthesius, Piotr Piotrowski, 2016-03-03 Since the late nineteenth century museums have been cited as tools of imperialism and colonialism as strongholds of patriarchy, masculinism, homophobia and xenophobia and accused both of elitism and commercialism. But could the museum absorb and benefit from its critique, turning into a critical museum, into the site of resistance rather than ritual? This book looks at the ways in which the museum could use its collections, its cultural authority, its auratic space and resources to give voice to the underprivileged and to take an active part in contemporary and at times controversial issues. Drawing together both major museum professionals and academics, it examines the theoretical concept of the critical museum and uses case studies of engaged art institutions from different parts of the world. It reaches beyond the usual focus on western Europe, America and the World, including voices from as well as about eastern European museums which have rarely been discussed in museum studies books so far.

The Storm of Creativity Kyna Leski, 2020-08-11 The stages of the creative process from unlearning to beginning again, seen through examples from the practice of artists, architects, poets and others. Although each instance of creativity is singular and specific, Kyna Leski tells us the creative process is universal. Artists, architects, poets, inventors, scientists and others all navigate the same stages of the process in order to discover something that does not yet exist. All of us must work our way through the empty page, the blank screen, writer's block, confusion, chaos and doubt. In this book, Leski draws from her observations and experiences as a teacher, student, maker, writer and architect to describe the workings of the creative process. Leski sees the creative process as being like a storm: it slowly begins to gather and take form until it overtakes us if we are willing to let it. It is dynamic, continually in motion; it starts, stops, rages and abates, ebbs and flows. In illustrations that accompany each chapter, she maps the arc of the creative process by tracing the path of water droplets traveling the stages of a storm. Leski describes unlearning, ridding ourselves of preconceptions only when we realize what we don't know, can we pose the problem that we need to solve. We gather evidence with notebook jottings, research, the collection of objects propelling the process. We perceive and conceive, we look ahead without knowing where we are going, we make connections. We pause, retreat and stop only to start again. To illustrate these stages of the process, Leski draws on examples of creative practice that range from Paul Klee to Steve Jobs, from the discovery of continental drift to the design of Antoni Gaudí's Sagrada Família. Creativity, Leski tells us, is a path with no beginning or end; it is ongoing. This revelatory view of the creative process will be an essential guide for anyone engaged in creative discovery.
