

KEEP THE FROG FROM HOPPING AWAY!

Place the frog under your child's wrist while they write.

Remind them to "keep the frog from hopping away!"

The frog should slide across the paper with their wrist as they write.

Resting the wrist helps with pencil control, smoother writing, and less fatigue.

Many times, students attempt to write with their wrist in the air, using shoulder movement (rather than wrist movement) to write. This can cause fatigue, frustration, and poor handwriting. Use this activity to help your students keep their wrist in the proper position while learning to write.
