Hadrosaurs David A. Eberth, David C. Evans, 2014-11-05 A comprehensive study of the Late Cretaceous duck billed dinosaur featuring insights on its origins anatomy and more Hadrosaurs also known as duck billed dinosaurs are abundant in the fossil record With their unique complex jaws and teeth perfectly suited to shred and chew plants they flourished on Earth in remarkable diversity during the Late Cretaceous So ubiquitous are their remains that we have learned more about dinosaurian paleobiology and paleoecology from hadrosaurs than we have from any other group In recent years hadrosaurs have been in the spotlight Researchers around the world have been studying new specimens and new taxa seeking to expand and clarify our knowledge of these marvelous beasts This volume presents the results of an international symposium on hadrosaurs sponsored by the Royal Tyrrell Museum and the Royal Ontario Museum where scientists and students gathered to share their research and their passion for duck billed dinosaurs A uniquely comprehensive treatment of hadrosaurs the book encompasses not only the well known hadrosaurids proper but also Hadrosauoidea allowing the former group to be evaluated in a broader perspective The 36 chapters are divided into six sections an overview new insights into hadrosaur origins hadrosaurid anatomy and variation biogeography and biostratigraphy function and growth and preservation tracks and traces followed by an afterword by Jack Horner Well designed handsome and fantastically well edited credit there to Patricia Ralrick congratulations are deserved to the editors for pulling together a vast amount of content and doing it well The book contains a huge quantity of information on these dinosaurs Darren Naish co author of Tetrapod Zoology Scientific American Hadrosaurs have not had the wide publicity of their flesh eating cousins the theropods but this remarkable dinosaur group offers unique opportunities to explore aspects of palaeobiology such as growth and sexual dimorphism In a comprehensive collection of papers all the hadrosaur experts of the world present their latest work exploring topics as diverse as taxonomy and stratigraphy locomotion and skin colour Michael Benton University of Bristol Extinction and Radiation J. David Archibald,2011-03-15 This study identifies the fall of dinosaurs as the factor that allowed mammals to evolve into the dominant tetrapod form It refutes the single cause impact theory for dinosaur extinction and demonstrates that multiple factors massive volcanic eruptions loss of shallow seas and extraterrestrial impact likely led to their demise While their avian relatives ultimately survived and thrived terrestrial dinosaurs did not Taking their place as the dominant land and sea tetrapods were mammals whose radiation was explosive following nonavian dinosaur extinction The author argues that because of dinosaurs Mesozoic mammals changed relatively slowly for 145 million years compared to the prodigious Cenozoic radiation that followed Finally out from under the shadow of the giant reptiles Cenozoic mammals evolved into the forms we recognize today in a mere ten million years after dinosaur extinction FOSSIL RECORD 7 Spencer G.
