Do Courts Cite? Joy Steigler-Herms, 2026-01-01 Court decisions can neither be made nor drafted without references to other texts citations are omnipresent in judicial rulings Every decision takes relevant normative texts or precedents into account primarily to ensure coherent case law Through the act of referencing courts demonstrate that their decisions are based on an established legal doctrine This integration into the existing doctrine legitimizes the decision and thus creates legal certainty through predictability Moreover court decisions also contain references to texts that do not possess legal authority and therefore cannot be assigned such a function Among the sources cited by courts alongside statutory texts are for example references to foreign law scholarly sources or even literary texts In view of this the present study addresses the question of how and why courts cite Using decisions from the Federal Constitutional Court of Germany and the Supreme Court of Canada as examples the interdisciplinary study proposes both philological and legal evaluation criteria for the empirical reconstruction of citation functions and furthermore adopts a comparative perspective on jurisdiction related differences in citation practices in courts
