Grade 4

John F. Kennedy, January 20, 1961, 1961-1963

My fellow Americans, ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country. My fellow Americans, it is not the glory of your country that we should seek, nor the wealth of your country, nor the power of your country, but the best and the noblest of all things: the peace and the freedom of the world. For that is the duty of every citizen of this great country.

The world is very different now. For this state is the world. For the eyes of the world are here, for the minds of the world are here, for the hearts of the world are here. For this state is the world, and the world is this state. For this state is the world, and the world is this state. For this state is the world, and the world is this state.

Let us be brave, let us be bold, let us be confident, let us be hopeful, let us be determined, let us be persistent. Let us be brave, let us be bold, let us be confident, let us be hopeful, let us be determined, let us be persistent. Let us be brave, let us be bold, let us be confident, let us be hopeful, let us be determined, let us be persistent.

Let us be brave, let us be bold, let us be confident, let us be hopeful, let us be determined, let us be persistent. Let us be brave, let us be bold, let us be confident, let us be hopeful, let us be determined, let us be persistent. Let us be brave, let us be bold, let us be confident, let us be hopeful, let us be determined, let us be persistent.

Let us be brave, let us be bold, let us be confident, let us be hopeful, let us be determined, let us be persistent. Let us be brave, let us be bold, let us be confident, let us be hopeful, let us be determined, let us be persistent.
