The Palgrave Handbook of the Philosophy of Film and Motion Pictures Noël Carroll, Laura T. Di Summa, Shawn Loht, 2019-10-30 This handbook brings together essays in the philosophy of film and motion pictures from authorities across the spectrum It boasts contributions from philosophers and film theorists alike with many essays employing pluralist approaches to this interdisciplinary subject Core areas treated include film ontology film structure psychology authorship narrative and viewer emotion Emerging areas of interest including virtual reality video games and nonfictional and autobiographical film also have dedicated chapters Other areas of focus include the film medium's intersection with contemporary social issues film's kinship to other art forms and the influence of historically seminal schools of thought in the philosophy of film Of emphasis in many of the essays is the relationship and overlap of analytic and continental perspectives in this subject

Cinematic Poetics of Guilt Matthias Grotkopp, 2021-01-18 How do the temporal and dynamic patterns of media forms and practices create complex constructions of meaning identity and value How can we describe the way cinematic images generate and transform the affectively grounded structures that survey confirm or revise a political community's horizon of values Using the exemplary case of feelings of guilt the author develops an approach that makes patterns of audiovisual compositions intelligible as aesthetic modulations of moral feelings A sense of guilt is presented here as neither an individualistic psychological emotion nor an external social mechanism of control but as a paradigmatic case for understanding politics and history as based upon embodied affectivity and shared relations to the world By taking three distinct examples German Post War cinema Hollywood Western and films on climate change patterns of audiovisual composition and the inherent calculation of affect are analyzed as practices shaping the conditions of possibility of political communities and their historicity

Tragic Thoughts at the End of Philosophy Gerald L. Bruns, 1999-07-21 In this text Bruns investigates the recent phenomenon of philosophers taking an interest in literature and literary theory

Stanley Cavell and Philosophy as Translation Paul Standish, Naoko Saito, 2017-02-28 Translation exposes aspects of language that can easily be ignored renewing the sense of the proximity and inseparability of language and thought The ancient quarrel between philosophy and literature was an early expression of a self understanding of philosophy that has in some quarters at least survived the centuries This book explores the idea of translation as a philosophical theme and as an important feature of philosophy and practical life especially in relation to the work of Stanley Cavell The essays in this volume explore philosophical questions about translation especially in the light of the work of Stanley Cavell They take the questions raised by translation to be of key importance not only for philosophical thinking but for our lives as a whole Thoreau's enigmatic remark The truth is translated reveals that apparently technical matters of translation extend through human lives to remarkable effect conditioning the ways in which the world comes to light The experience of the translator exemplifies the challenge of judgement where governing rules and principles are incommensurable and it shows something of the ways in which words come to us opening new possibilities of thought This book puts Cavell's rich exploration of these matters into conversation with traditions of pragmatism and European thought Translation then far from a merely technical matter is at work in human being and it is the means of humanisation The book brings together philosophers and translators with common interests in Cavell and in the questions of language at the heart of his work
