Through the Mackenzie Basin Charles Mair,2016-06-21 Excerpt from Through the Mackenzie Basin A Narrative of the Athabasca and Peace River Treaty Expedition of 1899 The writer and doubtless some of his readers can recall the time when to go to Peace River seemed almost like going to another sphere where it was conjectured life was lived very differently from that of civilized man And truly it was to enter into an unfamiliar state of things a region in which a primitive people not without faults or depravities lived on Nature s food and thrive on her unfailling harvest of fur A region in which they often left their beaver silver fox or marten packs the envy of Fashion lying by the dog trail or hanging to some sheltering tree because no one stole and took their fellow s word without question because no one lied A very simple folk indeed in whose language profanity was unknown and who had no desire to leave their congenital solitudes for any other spot on earth solitudes which so charmed the educated minds who brought the white man s religion or trame to their doors that like the Lotus eaters they too felt little craving to depart Yet they were not regions of sloth or idleness but of necessary toil of the laborious chase and the endless activities of aboriginal life the region of a people familiar with its fauna and ora tif skilled but unconscious naturalists who knew no science About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
