Travels To The Enu:

Travels to the Enu Jakov Lind,1982 Austrian Information ,1982 Translingual Identities Tamar Steinitz,2013
Explores the psychology of literary translingualism in the works of two authors finding it expressed as loss and fragmentation in one case and as opportunity and mediation in the other The works of translingual writers those who write in a language other than their native tongue present a rich field for study but literary translingualism remains underresearched and undertheorized In this work Tamar Steinitz explores the psychological effects of translingualism in the works of two authors the German Stefan Heym 1913 2001 and the Austrian Jakov Lind 1927 2007 Both were forced into exile by the rise of Nazism both chose English as a language of artistic expression Steinitz argues that translingualism which ruptures the perceived link between language and world as the writer chooses between systems of representation leads to a psychic split that can be expressed in the writer's work as a schizophrenic existence or as a productive doubling of perspective Movement between languages can thus reflect both the freedom associated with geographical mobility and the emotional price it entails Reading Lind's and Heym's works within their postwar context Steinitz proposes these authors as representative models respectively of translingualism as loss and fragmentation and translingualism as opportunity and mediation Tamar Steinitz teaches English literature at Queen Mary and Goldsmiths colleges University of London She has also worked as a literary translator

A.U.M.L.A. ,2000 Time ,1982 Writing After Hitler Edward Timms,Andrea Hammel,Silke Hassler,2001 Jakov Lind was born in Vienna in 1927 As an eleven year old boy from a Jewish family he left Austria after the Anschluss found temporary refuge in Holland and succeeded in surviving inside Nazi Germany by assuming a Dutch identity After a literary apprenticeship in Israel he made his reputation through works of fiction written in German although he now lives in Britain and writes in English Lind's writings are distinguished by an extraordinary variety of stylistic and linguistic modes which are used in both his autobiographical and his fictional narratives to express the experiences of exile linguistic dislocation and cultural uncertainty The articles collected in this volume reassess the strategies which Lind adopted to explore the implications of living and writing after all that occurred under Hitler Writing After Hitler The Work of Jakov Lind is the first comprehensive study of this creative and controversial writer and will be of interest not only to students and academics working in German and Austrian Studies but to everyone interested in the Holocaust the literature of exile and the cultural legacy of central European Jewry
