geographical discoveries At first power and violence were prevailing and only later people tried to introduce effective methods of law enforcement Nowadays the next problem is the non territoriality of phenomena on the Internet From the point of view of legal actions it is generally limited to a legal system of a given country and seems to be a fundamental issue As it appears law and legal systems do not handle the challenges of global space and it is rather a gunslinger s speed that turns out to be essential here However it should be hoped that with time as in the case of the real world experience power will be replaced with powerful arguments based on effective legal mechanisms in particular All the more so as these changes happen very rapidly Thus referring to the known concept of liquid modernity by Zygmunt Bauman it can also be said that by regulating the media subject in the field of law to fundamental changes we are confronted with the uncertainty of legal institutions concerning this part of social life Hence we should return to the basics and again pose fundamental questions about media law such as for instance what should the press radio television be called and who can be treated as a journalist Additionally we should face new legal phenomena and challenges The collective work we are passing to the readers is an attempt to analyse the current state and present a forecast about further changes as well as answers to at least several questions posed above Being aware of the fact that it is impossible to deal with or even settle all the aforementioned problems in such a study the editors hope that thanks to reviews and deliberations of the authors the book will significantly contribute to the discussion on media law in the 21st century The authors of individual chapters of this book are researchers from various Polish scientific institutions and members of the Polish PressLawAssociation abstract The media plays an integral role in influencing trends in the modern world The information era a phrase used to capture the way the world has developed to rely on information for most of the actions that people take remains significantly different from all the other periods in the history of humanity Information and narratives now have significant powers to change and influence the way people think and act and more importantly the reasoning they portray on various topics in their societies The media plays a significant role in pushing for specific narratives and messages in the modern world The current media has emerged as the most advanced system of communication that the humanity has ever experienced Unlike in the past when information and narratives could take long periods to reach people today the situation is significantly different owing to the developments that the modern media has seen in recent years The role of the contemporary media in driving narratives has been studied quite extensively The existing base of literature has focused mainly on the way the media delivers messages from the source to the consumer The current paper recognises that most researchers and commentators have not studied as extensively as required the role that media and communication play in driving narratives on political and social economic trends As such the focus of this paper will be on the ways through which media and communication outlets influence the reasoning that people hold as truths in a world that has diverse sources of unfiltered information from multiple sources
