

Geographic Information Systems

Geographic Information Systems (GIS) is a technology that manages, analyzes, and disseminates geographic knowledge. Essentially, GIS is maps on computers. Each characteristic of the Earth's surface is mapped on a layer which can be viewed independently, or in combination with other layers.

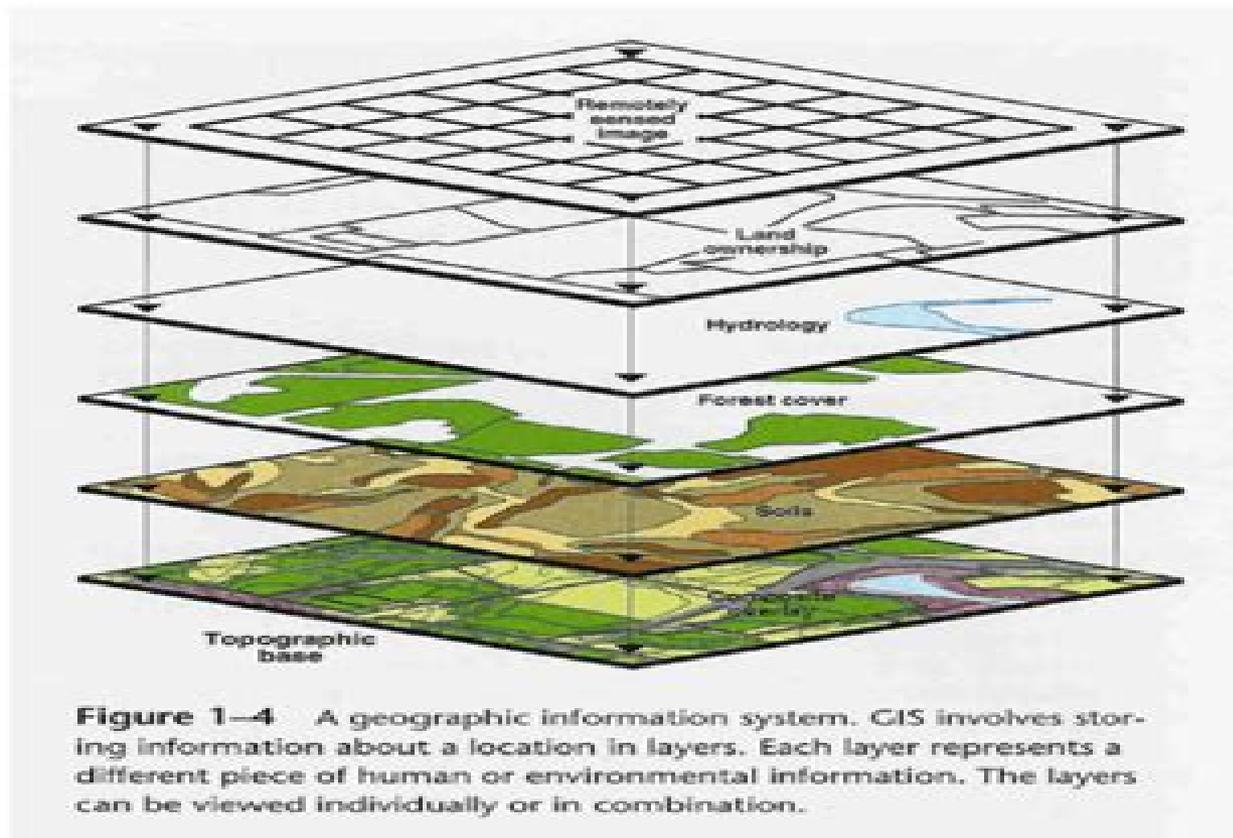

Figure 1-4 A geographic information system. GIS involves storing information about a location in layers. Each layer represents a different piece of human or environmental information. The layers can be viewed individually or in combination.
