A Home on the Field Paul Cuadros,2009-10-13 A Home on the Field is about faith loyalty and trust It is a parable in the tradition of Stand and Deliver and Hoosiers a story of one team and their accidental coach who became certain heroes to the whole community For the past ten years Siler City North Carolina has been at the front lines of immigration in the interior portion of the United States Like a number of small Southern towns workers come from traditional Latino enclaves across the United States as well as from

Latin American countries to work in what is considered the home of industrial scale poultry processing At enormous risk these people have come with the hope of a better life and a chance to realize their portion of the American Dream But it isn't always easy Assimilation into the South is fraught with struggles and in no place is this more poignant than in the schools When Paul Cuadros packed his bags and moved south to study the impact of the burgeoning Latino community he encountered a culture clash between the long time residents and the newcomers that eventually boiled over into an anti immigrant rally featuring former Klansman David Duke It became Paul's goal to show the growing numbers of Latino youth that their lives could be more than the cutting line at the poultry plants that finishing high school and heading to college could be a reality He needed to find something that the boys could commit to passionately knowing that devotion to something bigger than them would be the key to helping the boys find where they fit in the world The answer was soccer But Siler City like so many other small rural communities was a football town and long time residents saw soccer as a foreign sport and yet another accommodation to the newcomers After an uphill battle the Jets soccer team at Jordan Matthews High School was born Suffering setbacks and heartbreak the majority Latino team in only three seasons and against all odds emerged poised to win the state championship
