Efficient Information Searching on the Web Jonas Fransson, 2010-05 Information searching on the Web has become part of our everyday life. Efficient Information Searching on the Web deals with different aspects which are important to become a better searcher. To search for information is one of the most common occupations on the Web. We do it for work, for studies, and in our spare time. We search for information about illnesses, far away countries, or spare parts for the car. The Web is an important source of information, no matter if you are a journalist, a student, a university researcher, or a teacher. Everybody can become more effective when it comes to searching for information. Central matters of the book are: How does a search engine work? How may the search services be used more efficiently? What is the invisible Web? How can the information be managed once it is found.

Information Trapping Tara Calishain, 2006-12-07 How many times have you run a Google search that resulted in thousands of results? With over 8 billion pages online and more posted every day, the Web more than likely contains the information you're looking for if only you could find it. In Information Trapping: Real Time Research on the Web, Internet search engine expert Tara Calishain makes researching more efficient and rewarding for anyone for whom the Web is an indispensable tool: academics, journalists, scientists, and professionals, as well as bloggers, genealogists, and hobbyists. She does so by teaching the latest techniques for building automated information gathering systems. As an alternative to the typical one-time search for information, Tara demonstrates how readers can use RSS feeds, page monitoring tools, and other software to set up information streams of many different data types, from text to multimedia to conversations, for capture and review.

Web Research Marie L. Radford, Susan B. Barnes, Linda Robinson Barr, 2006 Web Research: Selecting, Evaluating, and Citing provides helpful tips on how to find, select, and cite information.
