Intersectional Inequality Charles C. Ragin, Peter C. Fiss, 2017 In this guidebook we have a powerful contribution to social science methodology in a context where methodology is contested and is therefore political different methodologies can produce quite different results or findings using the same evidence The evidence in Ragin and Fiss's book is survey data Ragin's has developed for 25 years a way to bridge the case study method and the large n statistical study He calls it the set analytic method making use of fuzzy sets to bridge the divide between quantitative and qualitative methods Paradoxically the fuzzy set is a powerful tool because it replaces an unwieldy fuzzy instrument the variable which establishes only the positions of cases relative to each other with a precise one degree of membership in a well defined set Now with Intersectional Inequality Ragin and his coauthor Peter Fiss show how the method works in application to a very mainstream sociological research topic That topic the use of IQ and school achievement tests as predictors of life chances is advanced here by viewing cases intersectionally i.e. in terms of the different ways they combine causally relevant conditions The specific controversy they take up is the famous Bell Curve book of Charles Murray and Richard Herrnstein which argued that IQ is influenced by both inherited and environmental factors Controversy has gone on for 20 years over which variable has the strongest impact on life chances education or test scores or family background The centrality now more than ever of education to American social and economic policy compels close re examination of traditional methods and the blind spots of the so called net effects approach By use of this sophisticated qualitative comparative analysis Ragin and Fiss underscore the importance of racial differences in addressing social inequality in America today Black Men and Racial Trauma

Yamonte Cooper, 2024-02-23 This volume comprehensively addresses racial trauma from a clinical lens equipping mental health professionals across all disciplines to be culturally responsive when serving Black men Written using a transdisciplinary approach Yamonte Cooper presents a Unified Theory of Racism UTR Integrated Model of Racial Trauma IMRT Transgenerational Trauma Points TTP Plantation Politics Black Male Negation BMN and Race Based Shame RBS to fill a critical and urgent void in the mental health field and emerging scholarship on racial trauma Chapters begin with specific definitions of racism before exploring specific challenges that Black men face such as racial discrimination and health trauma criminalization economic deprivation anti Black misogyny and culturally specific stressors emotions such as shame and anger and coping mechanisms that these men utilize After articulating the racial trauma of Black men in a comprehensive manner the book provides insight into what responsive care looks like as well as clinical interventions that can inform treatment approaches This book is invaluable reading for all established and training mental health clinicians that work with Black men such as psychologists marriage and family therapists social workers counselors and psychiatrists Police-community
