Visualising Health Care Practice Improvement Rick Iedema, Jessica Mesman, Katherine Carroll, 2022-02-22 Why is it that in spite of all the health policy reforms clinical practice innovations increasing intersectoral interdependencies and new medical and information technologies so little has changed in the way we research and evaluate health care Don t these changes cry out for new ways of being studied and appraised And don t our approaches to clinical practice innovation cry out for being reinvented too Surely we cannot continue to wheel out research and evaluation paradigms improvement approaches and methods that were designed for 20th century problems and 20th century health care and assume they will be able to make sense of the problems we experience and the care we provide in the 21st century These changes necessitate a new paradigm of health service research evaluation and improvement and this new model adopts approaches and methods that embrace complexity The approaches and methods can account for the vicissitudes of front line care the activities of front line staff and the experiences of patients and families where care happens Visualising Health Care Practice Improvement draws on years of video feedback research shaping an approach that enables not only a retrospective understanding but also a view into the future of what might be possible It presents the argument that change is not principally about adopting solutions from elsewhere but that it is conditional on people exploring whether proposed solutions suit existing habituations It involves a process of exploration discovery secession and renewal Health care managers policy makers and shapers will find this book enlightening It will also be empowering to all health care professionals and front line staff Golden Darkness Robert Grajewski,2010-10 Twenty five centuries ago a dying tribal elder drinks from a spring in a cavern in the heart of a mountain in Western Africa The spring glows with a soft golden light As the elder drinks the water of the spring transforms the very essence of his being and the mysteries which separate humanity from the divine are unlocked and bridged He becomes the Firstborn of an ancient tradition hidden among the people and legends of the West African savanna In the wooded foothills of present day Switzerland three very old men ancient men of the ancient tradition prepare to confront the dark fulfillment of a prophecy foretold by the Firstborn These three possess mental and physical abilities which seem limitless abilities enabling them to perform miraculous works once thought to be the exclusive domain of the gods of human belief throughout the ages The dark one the fulfillment of the ancient prophecy is equally empowered the unexpected product of medical science overreaching its intended result However this one does not wish to remain hidden Through the miraculous signs and wonders which he can perform he desires to draw thousands to himself as an object of boundless cultish worship He longs to be their dark messiah and his cult of fear and death has already started to grow The three ancient Africans have been waiting centuries for this dark one to appear the fulfillment of the ancient prophecy and only they stand in his way The grains of truth embodied in all mythology will find reality in this confrontation pitting supernatural good against supernatural evil The confrontation was prophesized the outcome was not Spaghetti Rain Joan Trotter Srager,2013-10 In 1949 Ruthie is a skinny flat chested twelve year old tomboy with a metal front tooth living in the Washington Heights section of New York City It s the most important year of her life she s about to turn thirteen and move from her sheltered elementary school to a large metropolitan high school She is frightened about leaving her tomboy life and frightened about confronting the world outside of the only places and friends she has ever known Ruthie decides to start a diary that covers one year of her life and shares her innermost thoughts feelings hopes and dreams With humor and sensitivity Spaghetti Rain speaks in the voice of a girl in that place and at that time The reader is carried into the era through the songs movies radio broadcasts and the daily lives of people We dine in a famous night club ice skate at Rockefeller Center on Christmas Day and experience the neighborhood shops delicatessens and movie palaces The author describes Ruthie s explosive father her glamorous former showgirl aunt her gossipy neighbors and her loving mother Secrets are revealed her girlfriends escapes from Hitler s Europe her grandmother s struggles and at the end of her journey Ruthie experiences both good and bad during a car trip to Miami She and her family are turned away from an hotel because they are Jewish she witnesses racial discrimination but she also meets a boy on the beach and discovers first love Finally Ruthie
