Software Systems Architecture Nick Rozanski, Eoin Woods, 2012 This guide for software architects builds upon legacies of best practice explaining key areas and how to make architectural designs successful Software Systems Architecture Nick Rozanski, 2011

Software Systems Architecture Nick Rozanski, Eóin Woods, 2014-07-30 The field of software architecture continues to grow in acceptance and importance However this burgeoning discipline has thus far lacked an authoritative treatment that helps its practitioners gain valuable perspective and a thorough understanding of the disparate viewpoints that project stakeholders bring to the project In this new book written by two practicing software architects the field of software architecture now has an invaluable resource for designing and implementing successful software architectures Colleagues business management and ultimately customers appreciate the benefit of solid software systems architecture and this new book helps the architect deliver it This software architecture handbook will be referred to time and again It is a single source of proven practices and valuable advice that will help the software architect shepherd a project through its entire lifecycle

Viewpoint-based Flexible Information System Architectures Dmitri Valeri Panfilenko, 2021-06-07 Information system architecture ISA specification as a part of software engineering field has been an information systems research topic since the 60 s of the 20th century There have been manifold specification methodologies over the recent decades developed newly or adapted in order to target the domains of software modelling legacy systems steel production and automotive safety Still there exist considerable issues constituting the need for a flexible ISA development e g incomplete methodology for requirements in model driven architectures lacking qualitative methods for thorough definition and usage of viewpoints Currently existing methods for information system architecture specification usually de vise the target architectures either addressing only a part of software life cycles or neglect ing less structured information The method for flexible information system architectures FISA specification uses the viewpoint concept for mediating the domain expert and technical system levels The FISA method defines construction and application reference models based on the ANSI IEEE Standard 1471 2000 viewpoints with model transfor mations based on OMG Standard Model Driven Architecture MDA and four different approaches for ISA specification thus providing for flexibility both in construction and refactoring procedures The development of FISA method has been based on a thorough analysis of the ISA specification method field and constructs a comprehensive procedure and reference engi neering models for flexible ISA specification The genericity of the conceived construction and application procedure models of FISA allows for its usage not only in research but also in industry settings as presented on illustrative scenarios in steel manufacturing and automotive safety

Views on Evolvability of Embedded Systems Pierre Van de Laar, Teade Punter, 2010-10-20 Evolvability the ability to respond effectively to change represents a major challenge to today s high end embedded systems such as those developed in the medical domain by Philips Healthcare These systems are typically developed by multi disciplinary teams located around the world and are in constant need of upgrading to provide new advanced features to deal with obsolescence and to exploit emerging enabling technologies Despite the importance of evolvability for these types of systems the field has received scant attention from the scientific and engineering communities Views on Evolvability of Embedded Systems focuses on the topic of evolvability of embedded systems from an applied scientific perspective In particular the book describes results from the Darwin project that researched evolvability in the context of Magnetic Resonance Imaging MRI systems This project applied the Industry as Laboratory paradigm in which industry and academia join forces to ensure continuous knowledge and technology transfer during the project's lifetime The Darwin project was a collaboration between the Embedded Systems Institute the MRI business unit of Philips Healthcare Philips Research and five Dutch universities Evolvability was addressed from a system engineering perspective by a number of researchers from different disciplines such as software electrical and mechanical engineering with a clear focus on economic decision making The research focused on four areas data mining reference architectures mechanisms and patterns for evolvability in particular visualization they will not only find a state of the art overview on evolvability research but also guidelines to make systems more evolvable and new industrially validated techniques to improve the evolvability of embedded systems
