Sergio Albeverio, Denise Andrey, Paolo Giordano, Alberto Vancheri, 2007-10-16 In recent years it has become increasingly clear that the dynamics of cities can be best captured by looking at them as complex systems governed by many degrees of freedom interacting on different space and time scales in a non linear fashion The evolution of cities is shaped by internal factors e g decisions taken by institutions and individuals external causes international economic context and by social development The underlying processes can be slow or fast acting locally or globally At a different level both European cities and megacities are magnets for immigrants e g countries which have major economical and political problems leading often to phenomena like marginalization or even ghettization and segregation They are also hotbeds of economic political and cultural activity giving rise among other things to relocation and conversion of industries valuation of land and development of new services These phenomena as qualitative changes are opposed to purely quantitative growth processes They are far from being fully understood nor they are captured in validated and complete ban models For most of urban theory hitherto has been based on the assumption of slowly varying spatial and social structures Only recently these assumptions have been questioned giving rise to models employing dissipative dynamics stochastic cellular automata and multi agent models fractal geometry and evolutionary change models and to further mathematically oriented approaches

Research Tracks in Urbanism: Dynamics, Planning and Design in Contemporary Urban Territories Alessia Allegri, Angélica Benatti Alvim, Eunice Helena Abascal, Joaquin Sabaté, João Pedro Costa, Maria Cristina Schicchi, 2021-09-12 Maybe the Global Village metaphor has never been more accurate than it is today where societies join forces in the fight against the COVID 19 pandemic in a global coordinated effort possibly never tested before in the known history of Humankind Although we are sure that in the past some other shared demands have united the different peoples of the world this has never been so strongly necessary mainly in what the global scientific community is concerned This is a fight for the survival of a society However we should not lose sight of what we are fighting for We fight together for people Not just for the abstract value of Human life but for life in society as a whole including its moral and ethical aspects The topics of this book are based on this claim on what makes it possible We do not build our lives in a vacuum or in distant Invisible Cities but through a higher value which represents physical life in society the City built by the discipline of Urbanism This book is a spin off of the International Research Seminar on Urbanism_SIIU2020 Inspired by the contents of twelve research seminars a group of researchers from the universities of Barcelona Lisbon and São Paulo discuss the contemporary agenda of research in Urbanism Following the conference a selection of 35 original double blind peer reviewed research papers were brought together with different perspectives about such an agenda

The Urbanism of Exception Martin J. Murray, 2017-03-10 This book argues that understanding global urbanism in the twenty first century requires us to cast our gaze upon vast city regions without an urban core

An Urban Geography of the Roman World, 100 BC to AD 300 J. W. Hanson, 2016-11-07 This book provides a new account of the urbanism of the Roman world between 100 BC and AD 300 To do so it draws on a combination of textual sources and archaeological material to provide a new catalogue of cities calculates new estimates of their areas and uses a range of population densities to estimate their populations

Mediterranean Urbanization 800-600 BC Robin Osborne, Barry Cunliffe, 2005-10-27 Urban life as we know it in the Mediterranean began in the early Iron Age settlements of great size and internal diversity appear in the archaeological record This collection of essays offers for the first time a systematic discussion of the beginnings of urbanization across the Mediterranean from Cyprus through Greece and Italy to France and Spain Leading scholars in the field look critically at what is meant by urbanization and analyse the social processes that lead to the development of social complexity and the growth of towns

Research and Innovation Forum 2024 Anna Visvizi, Orlando Troisi, Vincenzo Corvello, Mara Grimaldi, 2025-07-26 This book features research presented and discussed during the Research Innovation Forum Rii Forum 2024 As such this book offers a unique insight into emerging topics issues and developments pertinent to the fields of technology innovation and education and their social impact Papers included in this book apply inter and multi disciplinary approaches to query such issues as technology enhanced teaching and learning smart cities information systems cognitive computing and social networking What brings these threads of the discussion together is the question of how advances in computer science which are otherwise largely incomprehensible to researchers from other fields can be effectively translated and capitalized on so as to make them beneficial for society as a whole In this context Rii Forum and Rii Forum proceedings offer an essential venue where diverse stakeholders including academics the think tank sector and decision makers can engage in a meaningful dialogue with a view to improving the applicability of advances in computer science
