The World Competitiveness Yearbook 2002:

The Global Competitiveness Report 2002-2003 World Economic Forum, 2003-03-27 The annual Global Competitiveness Report is widely recognized as the world's leading cross country comparison of data and information relating to economic competitiveness and growth Over the years the Report has become the most authoritative and comprehensive assessment of the comparative strengths and weaknesses of national economies throughout the world The World Economic Forum continues its tradition of excellence with The Global Competitiveness Report 2002 2003 which provides the most updated and recent data rankings and analysis of 75 industrialized and emerging economies and the latest thinking and research from prominent academics and international institution leaders on global competitiveness This year's report begins by presenting the widely quoted global competitive index that really comprises two indices one for growth and one for productivity It then provides global and regional analyses with examinations of the competitive landscapes of Africa Asia Central and Eastern Europe and Latin America Essays on a wide range of special topics follow including national innovative capacity governance foreign direct investment and trade performance The Report concludes with detailed country profiles data presentation and an exhaustive survey of senior business executives that touches on business conditions infrastructure the character of the regulatory regime the quality of government organized labor corruption and tax evasion The Global Competitiveness Report 2002 2003 provides essential information for business leaders government decision makers and for academics to examine the critical challenges facing a multitude of the world's economies

The Global Competitiveness Report 2003-2004 World Economic Forum, 2004 The Global Competitiveness Report 2003 2004 is the 24th of the World Economic Forum's annual rankings of the world's leading economies Written in a non technical language and style this report aims to appeal to a broad audience consisting of policy makers business leaders and academics

The Global Competitiveness Report 2002-2003 Peter Cornelius, 2003-03-27 The annual Global Competitiveness Report is widely recognized as the world's leading cross country comparison of data and information relating to economic competitiveness and growth Over the years the Report has become the most authoritative and comprehensive assessment of the comparative strengths and weaknesses of national economies throughout the world The World Economic Forum continues its tradition of excellence with The Global Competitiveness Report 2002 2003 which provides the most updated and recent data rankings and analysis of 75 industrialized and emerging economies and the latest thinking and research from prominent academics and international institution leaders on global competitiveness This year's report begins by presenting the widely quoted global competitive index that really comprises two indices one for growth and one for productivity It then provides global and regional analyses with examinations of the competitive landscapes of Africa Asia Central and Eastern Europe and Latin America Essays on a wide range of special topics follow including national innovative capacity governance foreign direct investment and trade performance The Report concludes with detailed country profiles data presentation and an exhaustive survey of senior business executives that touches on business conditions infrastructure the character of the regulatory regime the quality of government organized labor corruption and tax evasion The Global Competitiveness Report 2002 2003 provides essential information for business leaders government decision makers and for academics to examine the critical challenges facing a multitude of the world's economies Poland Competitiveness Report, 2006 Annual Report Trapeza tēs Hellados, 2002 Governance Matters IV Daniel Kaufmann, 2005 The authors present the latest update of their aggregate governance indicators together with new analysis of several issues related to the use of these measures The governance indicators measure the following six dimensions of governance 1 voice and accountability 2 political instability and violence 3 government effectiveness 4 regulatory quality 5 rule of law and 6 control of corruption They cover 209 countries and territories for 1996 1998 2000 2002 and 2004 They are based on several hundred individual variables measuring perceptions of governance drawn from 37 separate data sources constructed by 31 organizations The authors present estimates of the six dimensions of governance for each period as well as margins of error capturing the range of likely values for each country Cover verso Economic Report on Africa, 2004 United Nations. Economic Commission for Africa, 2004 The Economic Report on Africa 2004 is the fifth in an annual series that reviews the continent's economic performance and near term prospects In 2003 Africa was the second fastest growing developing region with real GDP growth of 3.8 per cent driven by higher oil prices and production rising commodity prices increased foreign direct investment FDI better macroeconomic management and good weather conditions But the report takes the view that OECD trade policies are a serious constraint to Africa's integration into the global economy African exports have been handicapped by industrial country policies such as tariff escalation tariff peaks and agricultural protectionism Africa's share in world merchandise exports fell from 6.3 per cent in 1980 to 2.5 per cent in 2000 in value terms But the report also argues that strengthening Africa's supply side capacity is essential to more successful integration into the global economy Weak infrastructure poor trade facilitation services and inadequate physical and human capital are impediments to the development of Africa's export sectors Faster overall growth is needed if Africa is to make progress toward achieving the Millennium Development Goal of halving poverty by 2015
