Zoo Talk Patricia G. Patrick,Sue Dale Tunnicliffe,2012-09-28 Founded on the premise that zoos are bilingual that the zoo in the shape of its staff and exhibits and its visitors speak distinct languages this enlightening analysis of the informal learning that occurs in zoos examines the speech of exhibits and staff as well as the discourse of visitors beginning in the earliest years Using real life conversations among visitors as a basis for discussion the authors interrogate children s responses to the exhibits and by doing so develop an informal learning model and a zoo knowledge model that prompts suggestions for activities that classroom educators can use before during and after a zoo visit Their analysis of the visitor voice informs creative suggestions for how to enhance the educational experiences of young patrons By assessing visitors entry knowledge and their interpretations of the exhibits the authors establish a baseline for zoos that helps them to refine their communication with visitors for example in expanding knowledge of issues concerning biodiversity and biological conservation The book includes practical advice for zoo and classroom educators about positive ways to prepare for zoo visits engaging activities during visits and follow up work that maximizes the pedagogical benefits It also reflects on the interplay between the developing role of zoos as facilitators of learning and the ways in which zoos help visitors assimilate the knowledge on offer In addition to being essential reading for educators in zoos and in the classroom this volume is full of insights with much broader contextual relevance for getting the most out of museum visits and field trips in general The Little Girl's First Trip to the Zoo. Learning from Museums John H. Falk, Lynn D. Dierking, 2018-10-16 This is the second edition of John H Falk and Lynn D Dierking's ground breaking book Learning from Museums While the book still focuses on why how what when and with whom people learn from their museum experiences the authors further investigate the extension of museums beyond their walls and the changing perceptions of the roles that museums increasingly play in the 21st century with respect to the publics they serve and those they would like to serve This new edition offers an updated and synthesized version of the Contextual Model of Learning as well as the latest advances in free choice learning research theory and practice in order to provide readers a highly readable and informative understanding of the personal sociocultural and physical dimensions of the museum experience Falk and Dierking also fill in gaps in the 1st edition Falk's research focuses increasingly on the self related needs that museums meet and these findings enhance the personal context chapter Dierking's work delves deeply into the macro sociocultural dimensions of learning a topic not discussed in the sociocultural chapter in the first edition Emphasizing the importance of time and space the second edition adds an entirely new chapter to describe the important dimension of time They also insert findings from the burgeoning field of neuroscience Latter chapters of the book discuss the evolving role of museums in the rapidly changing Information Learning Society of the 21st century New examples and suggestions highlight the ways that the new understandings of learning can help museum practitioners reinvent how museums can and should support the public's lifelong life wide and life deep learning
