Theater Of Bernard Shaw Volume 2:

Our theatres in the nineties, vol.2, by Bernard Shaw Bernard Shaw,1931 Shaw and Other Playwrights John Anthony Bertolini,1993 The early conclusion that Shaw was mainly a magpie following the trails of many thinkers has led to the further consequence of neglecting Shaw's relationship to other playwrights This volume of SHAW explores Shaw's plays as inheritances and inspirations of dramatic art and also locates Shaw himself as a presence in the work of his contemporaries and successors The volume concentrates on Shaw in relation to other modern British playwrights notably Wilde Bennett Rattigan the Court Theatre playwrights and Shaw's successors from Coward to Stoppard Gwyn Thomas's 1975 BBC play The Ghost of Adelphi Terrace puts Shaw and Barrie together on stage and Shaw's 20 June 1937 Sunday Graphic obituary tribute to Barrie demonstrates Shaw's high regard for his contemporary and near neighbor There are also essays on how Shaw came increasingly to resemble Strindberg as a dramatist on the requirements of acting and directing Shaw alongside his contemporaries at the Shaw Festival at Niagara on the Lake and on Heartbreak House as a complex dialogue with Chekhov Shakespeare and Strindberg John R Pfeiffer has prepared a special bibliography of sources relating to Shaw and other playwrights in addition to the Continuing Checklist of Shaviana and Dan H Laurence has provided Shaw's pronunciation guide for the more troublesome names of his stage characters There are also reviews of four recent additions to Shavian scholarship Contributors include John A Bertolini Fred D Crawford R F Dietrich T F Evans A M Gibbs Leon H Hugo Christopher Newton Sally Peters John R Pfeiffer Evert Sprinchorn and Stanley Weintraub The 1920s London-Irish Theatre Nelson O'Ceallaigh Ritschel,2025-11-07 The 1920s London Irish Theatre A History documents explores and interrogates the Irish theatre that was prevalent in London during the 1920s This includes consideration of the movements that impacted 1920s London theatre such as the influential repertory theatres of the first decade of the twentieth century as well as the detailed history of the Irish Players Each identified London Irish production is discussed through contemporary theatre reviews from London newspapers and journals and within the decade's historical context Dramatists their plays actors producers and the physical theatres are all considered as extensively as evidence allows Major productions like those of Lennox Robinson's The White Headed Boy Sean O'Casey's Juno and the Paycock and Bernard Shaw's Saint Joan with its distinct Irish echoes are considered along with productions of George Shiels Professor Tim and Bernard Duffy's The Counter Charm and more Producers discussed include James Fagan and Charles Macdona while considered actors include Sara Allgood Maire O'Neill Arthur Sinclair Fred O'Donovan Ellen O'Malley Ethel O'Shea and many more This leads for the first time to a full portrait of the Irish theatre that was produced in London during the 1920s in not only the West End but also in smaller London theatres and in suburban repertory theatres Politics and Theatre in Twentieth-Century Europe M. Morgan,2013-12-18 This book explores the connection between politics and theatre by looking at the works and lives of Shaw Brecht Sartre and Ionesco providing a cultural history detailing the changing role of political theatre in twentieth century

Europe Censorship and the Irish Writer Brad Kent,2026-03-17 Censorship affected the careers of many Irish writers and transformed the trajectory of modern Irish literature Although some authors were reluctant to defend themselves and their art others strenuously fought against the curtailment of freedom of expression by lobbying politicians writing polemics and organising themselves into professional bodies and activist groups Supported by archival research and informed by philosophical concerns Censorship and the Irish Writer details almost a century of this history from an innovative perspective Discussing writers such as AE Lady Gregory James Joyce John McGahern Edna O'Brien Sean O'Casey Sean O'Faolain Bernard Shaw and W B Yeats and writers organisations like the Irish Academy of Letters and Irish PEN Brad Kent offers vital insight into the intersections of politics art and resistance While this book recounts spectacular controversies it places such events in a long line of agitations for greater freedom of expression and in the context of personal lives and professional networks that straddled geopolitical borders In so doing Kent argues that censorship is a phenomenon that is driven by tensions not only between the competing rights of individuals and the wider community but between the national and the international the local and the global The result is an original and compelling account of Irish literary history

Henry Irving Richard Foulkes,2017-11-30 Henry Irving 1838 1905 the first actor to be knighted dominated the theatre in Britain and beyond for over a quarter of a century As an actor he was strikingly different with his idiosyncratic pronunciation his somewhat ungainly physique and his brilliant psychological portrayals of virtue and villainy As a director of spectacular and commercially driven entertainments Irving anticipated Hollywood directors from D W Griffith to Stephen Spielberg And as manager of the Lyceum Theatre where audiences included the leading public figures of the day he controlled every aspect of the performance This collection of essays by leading theatre scholars explores each element of Irving's art his acting his contribution to the plays he commissioned his flair for the stage picture and his ear for incidental music Like Wagner Irving was a proponent of a holistic approach to the stage that is blending together acting painting music and architecture to create harmonious balanced and artistic theatre Irving emerges not only as the peer of such eminent contemporaries as Tennyson Sullivan Shaw and Burne Jones but also as a powerful influence on the twentieth century theatre
