Washington Dc World Cities:

The State of the World's Cities 2004/2005 ,2004 As towns and cities expand at unprecedented rates sustainable urban development is one of the most pressing challenges facing the international community in the 21st century This publication examines the realities faced by urban populations around the world focusing on the impact of globalisation and the way cities are governed and planned on the make up and density of their population and on their cultures and economies Issues considered include the impact of globalisation on urban culture urban renewal and cultural strategies the concept of metropolitanization socio economic and cultural impacts of international migration urban poverty and homelessness social inequality and exclusion urban governance safety and crime trends contemporary planning strategies and the role of civil society progress towards attainment of the Millennium Development Goals targets for sanitation and housing The report highlights the need for a new culture of planning to establish multicultural and inclusive cities involving civil society as well as public authorities

State of the World's Cities 2008/9 Un-Habitat,2012-05-04 Cities are perhaps one of humanity s most complex creations never finished never definitive They are like a journey that never ends Their evolution is determined by their ascent into greatness or their descent into decline They are the past the present and the future Cities contain both order and chaos In them reside beauty and ugliness virtue and vice They can bring out the best or the worst in humankind They are the physical manifestation of history and culture and incubators of innovation industry technology entrepreneurship and creativity Cities are the materialization of humanity s noblest ideas ambitions and aspirations but when not planned or governed properly can be the repository of society s ills Cities drive national economies by creating wealth enhancing social development and providing employment but they can also be the breeding grounds for poverty exclusion and environmental degradation The 21st Century is the Century of the City Half of humanity now lives in cities and within the next two decades 60 per cent of the world s people will reside in urban areas How can city planners and policymakers harmonize the various interests diversity and inherent contradictions within cities What ingredients are needed to create harmony between the physical social environmental and cultural aspects of a city and the human beings that inhabit it This report adopts the concept of Harmonious Cities as a theoretical framework in order to understand today s urban world and also as an operational tool to confront the most important challenges facing urban areas and their development processes It recognizes that tolerance diversity social justice and good governance all of which are inter related are as important to sustainable urban development as physical planning It addresses national concerns by searching for solutions at the city level For that purpose it focuses on three key areas spatial or regional harmony which examines the main drivers of urban growth in the developing world and explores the spatial nuances of economic and social policies social harmony which presents and analyzes new data on urban inequalities worldwide and describes the types of shelter deprivations experienced by slum dwellers in developing world regions and environmental harmony which examines the role of cities in the climate change debate and the impact of global warming on the most vulnerable cities The report also assesses the various intangible assets within cities that contribute to harmony such as cultural heritage sense of place and memory and the complex set of social and symbolic relationships that give cities meaning It argues that these intangible assets represent the soul of the city and are as important for harmonious urban development as tangible assets Harmony within cities argues the report is both a journey and a destination Published with UN HABITAT State of the World's Cities 2010/11 Un-Habitat,2010-08-12 The world s urban population now exceeds the world s rural population What does this mean for the state of our cities given the strain this global demographic shift is placing upon current urban infrastructures Following on from previous State of the World s Cities reports this edition uses the framework of The Urban Divide to analyse the complex social political economic and cultural dynamics of urban environments In particular the book focuses on the concept of the right to the city and ways in which many urban dwellers are excluded from the advantages of city life using the framework to explore links among poverty inequality slum formation and economic growth The volume will be essential reading for all professionals and policymakers in the field as well as a valuable resource for researchers and students in all aspects of urban development Published with UN Habitat State of the World's Cities 2010/11 Un-Habitat,2010-08-12 The world s urban population now exceeds the world s rural population What does this mean for the state of our cities given the strain this global demographic shift is placing upon current urban infrastructures Following on from previous State of the World s Cities reports this edition uses the framework of The Urban Divide to analyse the complex social political economic and cultural dynamics of urban environments In particular the book focuses on the concept of the right to the city and ways in which many urban dwellers are excluded from the advantages of city life using the framework to explore links among poverty inequality slum formation and economic growth The volume will be essential reading for all professionals and policymakers in the field as well as a valuable resource for researchers and students in all aspects of urban development Published with UN Habitat The State of the World's Cities ,2004 Reading Lists Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.
