White Mountain Redware A Pottery Tradition:

White Mountain Redware Roy L. Carlson, 2022-02-08 A study of the styles of decoration found on the early southwestern pottery known as White Mountain Redware The White Mountain Redware tradition an arbitrary division of the Cibola painted pottery tradition is composed of those vessels which have a red slip and painted decoration in either black or black and white which when grouped into pottery types have a geographic locus within or immediately adjacent to the Cibola area and which share a number of other attributes indicative of close historical relationships White Mountain Redware Edwin N Wilmsen, James N. Hill, Lyndon Lane Hargrave, Roy L. Carlson, William A. Longacre, 1970 White Mountain Redware Lyndon Lane Hargrave, Roy L. Carlson, 1970 White Mountain Redware James N. White Mountain Redware Roy L. Carlson, 1970 Chaco and After in the Northern San Juan Catherine M. Cameron, 2018-06-27 Chaco Canyon the great Ancestral Pueblo site of the eleventh and twelfth centuries remains a central problem of Southwestern archaeology Chaco with its monumental great houses was the center of a vast region marked by outlier great houses The canyon itself has been investigated for over a century but only a few of the more than 200 outlier great houses key to understanding Chaco and its times have been excavated This volume explores the Chaco and post Chaco eras in the northern San Juan area through extensive excavations at the Bluff Great House a major Chaco outlier in Utah Bluff s massive great house great kiva and earthen berms are described and compared to other great houses in the northern Chaco region Those assessments support intriguing new ideas about the Chaco region and the effect of the collapse of Chaco Canyon on outlying great houses New insights from the Bluff Great House clarify the construction and use of great houses during the Chaco era and trace the history of great houses in the generations after Chaco s decline An innovative comparative study of the northern and southern portions of the Chaco world the northern San Juan area around Bluff and the Cibola area around Zuni leads to new ideas about population aggregation and regional abandonment in the Southwest Appendixes present details and descriptions of artifacts recovered from Bluff ceramics projectile points pollen analyses faunal remains bone tools ornaments and more This book is one of only a handful of reports on Chacoan great houses in the northern San Juan region It provides an in depth study of the Chaco era and clarifies the relationship of outlying great houses to Chaco Canyon Research at the Bluff Great House begins to answer key questions about the nature of Chaco and its region and the history of the northern San Juan in the Chaco and post Chaco worlds Ancestral Hopi Migrations Patrick D. Lyons, 2016-10-15 Southwestern archaeologists have long speculated about the scale and impact of ancient population movements In Ancestral Hopi Migrations Patrick Lyons infers the movement of large numbers of people from the Kayenta and Tusayan regions of northern Arizona to every major river valley in Arizona parts of New Mexico and northern Mexico

Building upon earlier studies Lyons uses chemical sourcing of ceramics and analyses of painted pottery designs to distinguish among traces of exchange emulation and migration He demonstrates strong similarities among the pottery traditions of the Kayenta region the Hopi Mesas and the Homol ovi villages near Winslow Arizona Architectural evidence marshaled by Lyons corroborates his conclusion that the inhabitants of Homol ovi were immigrants from the north Placing the Homol ovi case study in a larger context Lyons synthesizes evidence of northern immigrants recovered from sites dating between A D 1250 and 1450 His data support Patricia Crown s contention that the movement of these groups is linked to the origin of the Salado polychromes and further indicate that these immigrants and their descendants were responsible for the production of Roosevelt Red Ware throughout much of the Greater Southwest Offering an innovative juxtaposition of anthropological data bearing on Hopi migrations and oral accounts of the tribe s origin and history Lyons highlights the many points of agreement between these two bodies of knowledge Lyons argues that appreciating the scale of population movement that characterized the late prehistoric period is prerequisite to understanding regional phenomena such as Salado and to illuminating the connections between tribal peoples of the Southwest and their ancestors

Potters and Communities of Practice Linda S. Cordell, Judith A. Habicht-Mauche, 2015-11-02 The peoples of the American Southwest during the 13th through the 17th centuries witnessed dramatic changes in settlement size exchange relationships ideology social organization and migrations that included those of the first European settlers Concomitant with these world shaking events communities of potters began producing new kinds of wares particularly polychrome and glaze paint decorated pottery that entailed new technologies and new materials The contributors to this volume present results of their collaborative research into the production and distribution of these new wares including cutting edge chemical and petrographic analyses They use the insights gained to reflect on the changing nature of communities of potters as they participated in the dynamic social conditions of their world

Symbols in Clay Steven A. LeBlanc, Lucia R. Henderson, 2009-05-15 In late prehistory the ancestors of the present day Hopi in Arizona created a unique and spectacular painted pottery tradition referred to as Hopi Yellow Ware This ceramic tradition which includes Sikyatki Polychrome pottery inspired Hopi potter Nampeyo s revival pottery at the turn of the twentieth century How did such a unique and unprecedented painting style develop The authors compiled a corpus of almost 2 000 images of Hopi Yellow Ware bowls from the Peabody Museum s collection and other museums Focusing their work on the exterior glyphlike painted designs of these bowls they found that the glyphs could be placed into sets and apparently acted as a kind of signature The authors argue that part time specialists were engaged in making this pottery and that relatively few households manufactured Hopi Yellow Ware during the more than 300 years of its production Extending the Peabody s influential Awatovi project of the 1930s Symbols in Clay calls into question deep seated assumptions about pottery production and specialization in the precontact American Southwest
