Patel ,Pier Cristoforo Giulianotti,Robert Poston,Rainer Gruessner,Mark Meyer,2021-03-25

The first edition of Robotic Surgery was written only a decade after the introduction of robotic technology. It was the first comprehensive robotic surgery reference and represented the early pioneering look ahead to the future of surgery. Building upon its success, this successor edition serves as a complete multi-specialty sourcebook for robotic surgery. It seeks to explore an in-depth look into surgical robotics and remote technologies leading to the goal of achieving the benefits of traditional surgery with the least disruption to the normal functions of the human body. Written by experts in the field, chapters cover the fundamental principles of robotic surgery and provide clear instruction on their clinical application and long-term results. Most notably, one chapter on The Blueprint for the Establishment of a Successful Robotic Surgery Program, Lessons from Admiral Hymen R. Rickover and the Nuclear Navy, outlines the many valuable lessons from the transformative change which was brought about by the introduction of nuclear technology into the conventional navy with Safety as the singular goal of the change process. Robotics represents a monumental triumph of surgical technology. Undoubtedly, the safety of the patient will be the ultimate determinant of its success. The second edition of Robotic Surgery aims to erase the artificial boundaries of specialization based on regional anatomy and serves as a comprehensive multispecialty reference for all robot surgeons. It allows them to contemplate crossing boundaries which are historically defined by traditional open surgery.

Environmental Gerontology Rick Scheidt, Benjamin Schwarz, 2013-09-13. Environmental gerontology, the research on aging and environment, evolved during the late 1960s when the domain became a relevant topic due to societal concerns with the problems of housing for elderly people. The field proliferated during the 1970s and 1980s and remains viable and active today on an international scale. However, in recent times, the viability of the field and its future has been brought into question. In this volume, international experts across diverse areas reflect on the current progress of their respective disciplines, illustrating research-grounded benefits emerging from their work and suggesting new agenda that can guide progress in the future. The contributors address a wide range of issues, including evaluation of existing paradigms and new theories that might advance both research and training issues and applications in methods, measures, and empirically generated research agenda, innovative approaches to environmental transformations in home, community, and long-term care settings, and understudied populations and issues in environmental gerontology. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Housing for the Elderly.
