Woman Maps:

Women in American Cartography Judith Tyner, 2019-11-13 Although women have been involved in mapping throughout history their story has largely been hidden The standard histories of cartography have focused on men A woman's name is rarely found In Women in American Cartography Judith Tyner argues that women were not deliberately erased but overlooked because of the types of maps they made and the jobs they held Tyner looks at over fifty women exemplars in American cartography and their maps She looks at teachers who made school atlases in the early nineteenth century at pictorial mapmakers and book illustrators who created popular maps at women who pioneered social and persuasive mapping promoting causes such as suffrage at women travelers who recorded their trips and mapped unexplored places at women whose maps helped win World War II at women academics who studied taught and wrote about cartographic theory at colleges and universities and at women who worked in government agencies and commercial mapping companies These are just a few of the stories of women in American cartography

Penny, 2019-12-19 In The Employments of Women: A Cyclopædia of Woman's Work Virginia Penny compiles a comprehensive exploration of women's roles in the workforce during the 19th century presenting a meticulous collection of occupations available to women in her time The book is characterized by its encyclopedic structure offering concise yet informative entries that reflect Penny's commitment to illuminating the socio-economic context that constricted women's employment options Written in an accessible style Penny combines empirical research with a passionate advocacy for women's rights producing a critical examination of societal norms and gender roles that were prevalent in Victorian society Virginia Penny a pioneering advocate for women's employment rights dedicated her career to the advancement of women's working conditions and opportunities Her own experiences as a professional woman amidst the restrictive societal expectations of the 1800s fueled her determination to document and elevate women's contributions to the labor force This unique perspective not only enriches her writing but also situates her work within the larger feminist movement of her era bridging the gap between oppressive norms and progressive ideals This essential text is a must read for scholars and general readers alike who seek a deeper understanding of women's history and the evolution of labor rights Penny's work remains relevant today offering insights that resonate with ongoing discussions about gender equity in the workforce By delving into this thorough compendium readers will gain an appreciation for the historical struggles women faced and the significant progress achieved in the fight for employment rights In this enriched edition we have carefully created added value for your reading experience Hand picked Memorable Quotes shine a spotlight on moments of literary brilliance Interactive footnotes clarify unusual references historical allusions and archaic phrases for an effortless more informed read

The Employments of Women: A Cyclopaedia of Woman's Work Virginia Penny, 2020-09-28 The great urgent universal wants of mankind in all classes of society are food clothing shelter and fuel After these come the comforts and luxuries pertaining to the condition of those in easy circumstances Above and beyond these animal wants but of nearly equal importance are those relating to the mind written and printed matter oral instructions as lectures and sermons and the handiwork of the fine arts These in addition to health freedom and friends comprise the greatest blessings man enjoys I would add that the means of transit are necessary to make him entirely independent Nearly all honest occupations are founded on these wants but they have been divided and subdivided until their name is legion The contents of this volume might be arranged in the same way that the articles exhibited in the Crystal Palace of London were under the heads Producer Importer Manufacturer Designer Inventor and Proprietor But we think the arrangement pursued though rather irregular may be quite as convenient So great is the variety of subjects treated that it is difficult to condense the contents in a smaller compass The general difference in character and habits of those engaged in various occupations their comparative morality and intelligence the effects of a decline in wages the effects of trades unions are all more or less involved in this subject of employments also the opinions of the working classes on machinery and its results Employments that have for their object the health comfort and protection of mankind those that produce the necessaries and the luxuries of life those for amusement and capable of being dispensed with are all treated of to some extent

Women and Cartography in the Progressive Era Christina E. Dando, 2017-08-15 In the twenty first century we speak of a geospatial revolution but over one hundred years ago another mapping revolution was in motion Women s lives were in motion they were playing a greater role in public on a variety of fronts As women became more mobile physically socially politically they used and created geographic knowledge and maps The maps created by American women were in motion too created shared distributed as they worked to transform their landscapes Long overlooked this women s work represents maps and mapping that today we would term community or participatory mapping critical cartography and public geography These historic examples of women generated mapping represent the adoption of cartography and geography as part of women s work While cartography and map use are not new the adoption and application of this technology and form of communication in women s work and in multiple examples in the context of their social work is unprecedented This study explores the implications of women s use of this technology in creating and presenting information and knowledge and wielding it to their own ends This pioneering and original book will be essential reading for those
