

TRANSFORMING LOSS

A person in a white robe stands in a dark, dense forest of bare trees. They are holding a glowing, golden orb in their hands, which illuminates the scene. The background is a deep blue, suggesting a twilight or night sky.

Integrative Body-Mind-Spirit Social Work Mo Yee Lee,Celia C. H. Y. Chan,Cecilia L. W. Chan,Siu-man Ng,Pamela P. Y. Leung,2018-03-09 Integrative Body Mind Spirit Social

Work strongly connects Western therapeutic techniques with Eastern philosophy and practices while also providing a comprehensive and pragmatic agenda for social work and mental health professionals The second edition represents a major revision from the original book featuring numerous case studies and a robust companion website including demonstration videos and reproducible client handouts

Towards The Light Michael Metzger, 2008-11-04 TOWARDS THE LIGHT GROWING THROUGH GRIEF is a remarkable book A practical handbook of coming to terms with grief it is also a rare insight into a personal journey which still continues following the death not only of the author's father but his son As you face up to your unique grief it is helpful to know the landscape which you are likely to travel This map is outlined with compassion and wisdom in the first part of the book Surviving different types of death is specified in the second part of the book and a spiritual guide follows in the third

Reciprocity and Dependency in Old Age Sue Thompson, 2013-04-18 This book highlights 1 the significance of reciprocity for the maintenance of self esteem in old age and 2 the negative implications for the well being of dependent older people when that significance goes unrecognized and as a consequence opportunities to give back to society as well as take from it are not facilitated by those in a position to do so The discussion draws on research undertaken in the UK and Southern India into the extent to which having the self perception of being valued in the world is important to older people in receipt of care support and whether in their experience this is recognized by others The author presents an analysis of theoretical insights from leading thinkers across a broad range of literature and from several disciplines including social theory social work philosophy and gerontology The author also gives voice to the perspectives of those dependent older people not often heard because of marginalizing and disempowering processes that contribute to their having little opportunity to be heard in the first place The emphasis of this book is on aspiration to a meaningful life and continuing personal growth as offering a challenge to dominant discourses that equate old age with decline

Loss, Grief, and Trauma in the Workplace Neil Thompson, 2009 The workplace is not immune to the problems pressures and challenges presented by experiences of loss and trauma and the grief reactions they produce This clearly written well crafted book offers important insights and understanding to help us appreciate the difficulties involved and prepare ourselves for dealing with such demanding situations when they arise People's experiences of loss and trauma are of course not left at the factory gate or the office door Nor are loss and traumatic events absent from the workplace itself Loss grief and trauma are very much a part of life and that includes working life Executives managers human resource professionals and employee assistance staff need to have at least a basic understanding of how loss grief and trauma affect people in the workplace This book provides that foundation of understanding and offers guidance on how to find out more about these vitally important workplace issues The text provides a valuable blend of theory and practice that will be of interest to those involved in management human resources and organizational studies as well as those interested in the social scientific study of loss grief and trauma and of course to those involved in the helping professions It is essential reading for anyone concerned with
