Translation In Systems Descriptive And Systemoriented Approaches Explained:

Translation in Systems Theo Hermans, 2014-04-08 The notion of systems has helped revolutionize translation studies since the 1970s As a key part of many descriptive approaches it has broken with the prescriptive focus on what translation should be encouraging researchers to ask what translation does in specific cultural settings From his privileged position as a direct participant in these developments Theo Hermans explains how contemporary descriptive approaches came about what the basic ideas were and how those ideas have evolved over time His discussion addresses the fundamental problems of translation norms equivalence polysystems and social systems covering not only the work of Lev Holmes Even Zohar Toury Lefevre Lambert Van Leuven Zwart Dhulst and others but also giving special attention to recent contributions derived from Pierre Bourdieu and Niklas Luhmann An added focus on practical questions of how to investigate translation problems of definition description assessment of readerships etc makes this book essential reading for graduate students and indeed any researchers in the field Hermans account of descriptive translation studies is both informed and critical At the same time he demonstrates the strength of the basic concepts which have shown considerable vitality in their evolution and adaptation to the debates of the present day The 1840 translation of the Gospel of Luke as a technology of power Itumeleng D.

Mothoagae ,2024-07-26 In this book the author aims to explore the impact of 19th century translations of the Bible into indigenous languages with a specific focus on the Setswana translation The translations have had a profound effect on the religio cultural practices of the indigenous people leading to erosion and alteration of their traditions and identities I argue that it is crucial to consider the translator s intentions and the associated literature such as journals and letters to understand the translation process comprehensively The Setswana Bible was the first to be translated in Africa and tracing the intentions of Robert Moffat the first translator is imperative to understanding the impact of the translation on the receptor culture The methodology adopted is interdisciplinary drawing from linguistics African languages history English literature cultural studies black studies and theology I analyse the impact of the 1840 Gospel of Luke in the context of Setswana culture in South Africa and my findings demonstrate that translations cannot be distinct from the translator To gain a deep understanding of the implications of such texts I adopt a methodology that analyses significant historical literature and primary sources including the records and works of The British and Foreign Bible Society The History of the London Missionary Society and the journals letters and writings of missionaries such as Robert Moffat and John Campbell

Literary Digital Stylistics in Translation Studies Anna Maria Cipriani, 2023-11-20 This book presents a systematic literary comparison of the retranslations by adopting a mixed method and bottom up inductive approach by developing an empirical corpus approach This corpus is specifically tailored to identify and study linguistic and non linguistic modernist features throughout the texts such as stream of consciousness indirect interior monologue and free indirect speech All occurrences are analysed quantitatively in the computations of inferential and comparative statistics such as tests of time trends lexical variety and lexical frequency The target texts are digitised and the resulting text files are then analysed using a bespoke novel computer program capable of the functions not provided by commercially available software such as WordSmith Tools and WMatrix This methodology enables in depth explorations of micro and macro textual features and allows a mixed method approach combining close reading qualitative analysis with systematic quantitative comparisons The empirical study of the digital corpus of eleven Italian re translations of Virginia Woolf s To the Lighthouse identifies a progressive source text orientation only in a relatively few aspects of a few target texts The translators presence affects all the examined target texts in terms of register and style under the influence of the Italian translation norms usually attributed to the translation of literary classics Its intended readership comprises students of the mentioned fields and the general public of readers editors and publishers

The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Philosophy J Piers Rawling, Philip Wilson, 2018-10-10 The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Philosophy presents the first comprehensive state of the art overview of the complex relationship between the field of translation studies and the study of philosophy The book is divided into four sections covering discussions of canonical philosophers central themes in translation studies from a philosophical perspective case studies of how philosophy has been translated and illustrations of new developments With twenty nine chapters written by international specialists in translation studies and philosophy it represents a major survey of two fields that have only recently begun to enter into dialogue The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Philosophy is a pioneering resource for students and scholars in translation studies and philosophy alike

AI-Powered Corpus Translation Studies at Work Anna Maria Cipriani, Federico Milana, 2026-03-17 This open access book introduces a pioneering methodology in corpus translation studies by integrating generative artificial intelligence to assist in text annotation alignment and interpretative analysis with an illustrative application It focuses on early re translations by Aphra Behn and her contemporaries of Fontenelle s Entretiens sur la pluralit des mondes 1686 exploring literary strategies within their historical and socio cultural contexts The approach combines human expertise with generative AI tools to identify linguistic and extralinguistic features such as tone rhetoric and cultural references aiming to improve annotation efficiency scalability and analytical depth The study presents an illustrative historical and literary exploration examining lesser known translations alongside Aphra Behn s 1688 version It highlights authorial and ideological nuances in early modern translation supported by AI assisted categorisation The book covers traditional corpus methods AI s role in translation studies methodological design historical context of the texts application of AI analysis ethical considerations and future research directions
