Mondrian's Philosophy of Visual Rhythm Eiichi Tosaki, 2017-11-15 This volume investigates the meaning of visual rhythm through Piet Mondrian's unique approach to understanding rhythm in the compositional structure of painting drawing reference from philosophy aesthetics and Zen culture Its innovation lies in its reappraisal of a forgotten definition of rhythm as stasis or composition which can be traced back to ancient Greek thought This conception of rhythm the book argues can be demonstrated in terms of pictorial strategy through analysis of East Asian painting and calligraphy with which Greek thought on rhythm has identifiable commonalities The book demonstrates how these ideas about rhythm draw together various threads of intellectual development in the visual arts that cross disparate aesthetic cultural practices As an icon of early 20th Century Modernism Mondrian's neoplasticism is a serious painterly and philosophical achievement In his painting Mondrian was deeply influenced by Theosophy which took its influence from Eastern aesthetics particularly East Asian and Indian thought However Mondrian's approach to visual rhythm was so idiosyncratic that his contribution to studies of visual rhythm is often under recognized This volume shows that a close inspection of Mondrian's own writing thinking and painting has much to tell scholars about how to understand a long forgotten aspect of visual rhythm Rodin's famous criticism of photography athlete in motion is forever frozen can be applied to Muybridge's zoopraxiscope the Futurists rendition of stroboscopic images and Duchamp's Nude Descending a Staircase Through a comparative study between Mondrian's painting and these seminal works this volume initiates a new convention for the cognition of the surface of painting as visual rhythm Mondrian's simultaneous emphasis on the static and the rhythmic is hardly fodder for a publicist Eiichi Tosaki has taken on the challenge of elucidating Mondrian's theories of rhythm and particularly his conception of static rhythm The result is a tour de force that will forever alter the reader's encounter with the works of Mondrian Prof Kathleen Higgins

Ed. by G[ertrude]E[lizabeth] M[argaret] Anscombe, G[eorg]H[enrik] Von Wright. 2. Ed Ludwig Wittgenstein,1981 Zettel is a collection of fragments which Wittgenstein cut from various of his typescripts and preserved for future use More than half of the fragments were written in the years 1946 1948 after the completion of Part I and before the composition of Part II of the Philosophical Investigations This collection may therefore be regarded as a companion volume to the Investigations adding to both the scope and the Unity of Wittgenstein s chef d oeuvre The fragments were kept in a box and were not strictly ordered Many have marks showing changes and improvements made after they were cut from the typescripts some have remarks added in handwriting Editing the collection for publication was thus a task of considerable difficulty Since Zettel was first published further research has been carried out on the fragments and minute comparisons have been made with their typescript and manuscript sources revealing certain inaccuracies and misinterpretations in the first editing of the work The second edition corrects these shortcomings and includes new explanatory footnotes a detailed index compiled by Stephen Amdur has also been added
