Vaughan,2023-05-24 Aviation books were a unique and prolific subgenre of American juvenile literature from the early to mid 20th century drawing upon the nation's intensifying interest. The first books of this type, Harry L. Sayler's series Airship Boys, appeared shortly after the Wright brothers' first successful flight in 1909. Following Charles Lindbergh's solo flight across the Atlantic, popular series like Ted Scott and Andy Lane established the golden age of juvenile aviation literature. This work examines the 375 juvenile aviation series titles published between 1909 and 1964. It weaves together several thematic threads, including the placement of aviation narratives within the context of major historical events, the technical accuracy in depictions of flying machines, and the ways in which characters reflected the culture of their eras. Three appendices provide publication data for each series, a list of referenced aircraft, and an annotated bibliography; there is a full index.

Milton Caniff's Steve Canyon 1956 Milton Caniff, 2009-05-15. The adventures of Milton Caniff's Steve Canyon continue with year 1956 of the landmark strip. From *Radio to Television Vincent Terrace, 2022-10-21. The early years of television relied in part on successful narratives of another medium, as studios adapted radio programs like Boston Blackie and Defense Attorney to the small screen. Many shows were adapted more than once, like the radio program Blondie, which inspired six television adaptations and 28 theatrical films. These are but a few of the 1,164 programs covered in this volume. Each program entry contains a detailed story line, years of broadcast, performer, and character casts, and principal production credits where possible. Two appendices, Almost a Transition and Television to Radio, and a performer's index conclude the book. This first of its kind encyclopedia covers many little-known programs that have rarely been discussed in print, e.g., Real George based on Me and Janie, Volume One based on Quiet Please, and Galaxy based on X Minus One. Covered programs include The Great Gildersleeve, Howdy Doody, My Friend Irma, My Little Margie, Space Patrol, and Vic and Sade.
