Studies In Language Variation:

Studies in Language Variation Ralph W. Fasold, 1977 Many linguists have moved beyond the study of language isolated from its use and have examined the interaction of linguistic rules with the pragmatics of language in context At the same time many scholars have taken a sociological approach to the structure of conversation and other communicative events A number of anthropologists are adding language variation to their traditional interest in language in relation to cultural phenomena Linguists who work in semantics syntax and phonology have also expanded their interests to include language variation From the Preface Language Variation and Language Change Across the Lifespan Karen V. Beaman, Isabelle Buchstaller, 2021-03-30 This volume brings together research on panel studies with the aim of providing a coherent empirical and theoretical knowledge base for examining the impact of maturation and lifespan specific effects on linguistic malleability in the post adolescent speaker Building on the work of Wagner and Buchstaller 2018 the present collection offers a critical examination of the theoretical implications of panel research across a range of geographic regions and time periods The volume seeks to offer a way forward in the debates circling about the phenomenon of later life language change drawing on contributions from a variety of linguistic disciplines to examine critical topics such as the effect of linguistic architecture the roles of mobility and identity construction and the impact of frequency effects Taken together this edited collection both informs and pushes forward key questions on the nature of lifespan change making this key reading for students and researchers in cognitive linguistics historical linguistics dialectology and variationist sociolinguistics

European origins to the present day Just like any other language English is a complex system made up of several interconnected sub systems lexical syntactical phonological morphological and all of those sub systems are subject to change resulting in constant shifts and readjustments Additionally more than some other languages English has a history marked by strong upheavals particularly with the influence of Scandinavian and Romance languages in the Middle Ages The contributions here consider all aspects of that complex history with four of them taking a particular interest in the issues brought about by language contact with French and Latin

Beaman, 2025-10-31 This collection engages with key questions in panel study research by exploring more deeply the interrelationship between the individual and the community and the impact on language change across the lifespan The book is organized around four broad themes each followed by a forward looking commentary that ties together the key findings from the individual chapters The first section examines style and socio indexicality with the goal of disentangling short term style shifting from long term language change The second section continues with a focus on style examining audience design and socially meaningful variation in professional settings as an integral component of age and role appropriate behavior The third section considers different language dialect contact scenarios and the impact on changing social identities and behavioural norms which can fluctuate across the lifespan for different settings and life stages and for different types of variables The final section explores a computational agent based model of lifespan and community change targeting the practical challenges often encountered in panel research such as data sparsity and the short duration of the human lifespan A postscript underscores the importance of considering style and setting as integral aspects of panel research rather than as afterthoughts and of leveraging computational modeling to expand our understanding of the interdependencies between lifespan and community change This book will appeal to scholars interested in language variation and change sociolinguistics historical linguistics and computational linguistics
