The Miners: One Union, One Industry R. Page Arnot, 2023-07-28 First published in 1979 The Miners A History of the National Union of Mineworkers 1939 46 describes the events and factors that led to the nationalisation of the coal industry in 1946 The World War had a creative as well as a destructive effect on the industry it compressed fundamental changes into seven short years By the end of the war the federated trade unions had succeeded in bringing about the unification of their industry and the various county district and craft associations were themselves also unified in one single national body Two rival plans emerged during 1945 a coal owners plan in conjunction with an experts report approved by Churchill and his Caretaker Cabinet and Labour s plan for the coal industry which came into force in 1946 as the Coal Industry Nationalisation Act A new epoch in management had begun with a National Coal Board new industrial relations and a new National Union of Mineworkers This book will be of interest to students of history sociology economics and political science The Miners of Nottinghamshire 1914-1944 Alan R. Griffin, 2026-02-01 Originally published in 1962 this is an important work in the history of Trade Unionism The period covered by this volume saw momentous changes in the structure of trade unionism in the mining industry in England In 1914 every coalfield had its own District Union These district unions were bound together into a loose Federation During the war years the locus of power shifted from the district associations to the national Federation Internal arguments in the Federation based on economic and ideological grounds took place during the 1920s A grass roots study this book shows why non political trade unionism took hold in the Nottinghamshire coalfield but failed elsewhere The importance of the Nottinghamshire pits was their economic position which was favourable in comparison to other mines The book examines the character and decision making of the people who shaped the destiny of the miners in the 1920s and 30s and discusses the difficult period from 1926 1937 when the old Nottinghamshire Miners Association was ignored by the coal owners The merits of district settlements which would enable the Nottinghamshire miners to maintain their relatively high wages compared with national settlements which would tend to depress wages in the more highly paid counties are also analysed The book will be of interest to economic and industrial historians and students of industrial relations The Mining and Smelting Magazine , The Mines of the West Rossiter Worthington Raymond, 1869 Legislative Documents Iowa.
