Telling Stories Ulrich Broich, Elmar Lehmann, Bernd Lenz, 1992-01-01 The contributions in this volume are all related to one of Ulrich Broich's main fields of research and teaching the way stories are told in the various literary genres. The papers range from Chaucer to 20th century literature; they discuss poems, prologues, plays, and novels. French philosophers and English sermons, the Anglo-Boer War, and totalitarianism.

Aspects of the Theory of Morphology Igor Mel'cuk, 2008-08-22 The book is dedicated to linguistic morphology and it contains a sketch of a complete morphological theory centered around a discussion of fundamental concepts such as morph vs morpheme, inflectional category, voice, grammatical case, agreement vs government, suppletion, relationships between linguistic signs, etc. the hottest issues in modern linguistics. The book introduces rigorous and clear concepts necessary to describe morphological phenomena of natural languages. Among other things, it offers logical calculi of possible grammemes in a given category. The presentation is developed in a typological perspective so that linguistic data from a large variety of languages are described and analyzed about 100 typologically very different languages. The main method is deductive; the concepts proposed in Aspects of the Theory of Morphology are based on a small set of indefinibilia and each concept is defined in terms of these indefinibilia and/or other concepts defined previously as a result. Logical calculi can be constructed similar to Mendeleev's Periodical Table of Elements in chemistry. Then the concept is applied to the actual linguistic data to demonstrate its validity and advantages. Thus Aspects of the Theory of Morphology combines metalinguistic endeavor, a system of concepts for morphology with typological and descriptive orientation. It reaches out to all students of language including the border fields and applications.

The value of such a work in great measure will lie in the breadth of its treatment, in its wealth of illustration, and in the fact that it represents the result of personal study of a people who are rapidly losing the traces of their aboriginal character and who are destined ultimately to become assimilated with the superior race. It has been the aim to picture all features of the Indian life and environment, types of the young and the old, with their habitations, industries, ceremonies, games, and everyday customs. Though the treatment accorded the Indians by those who lay claim to civilization and Christianity has in many cases been worse than criminal, a rehearsal of these
