Speech Processing in the Auditory System Steven Greenberg, William A. Ainsworth, Richard R. Fay, 2010-11-29 Although speech is the primary behavioral medium by which humans communicate its auditory basis is poorly understood having profound implications on efforts to ameliorate the behavioral consequences of hearing impairment and on the development of robust algorithms for computer speech recognition In this volume the authors provide an up to date synthesis of recent research in the area of speech processing in the auditory system bringing together a diverse range of scientists to present the subject from an interdisciplinary perspective Of particular concern is the ability to understand speech in uncertain potentially adverse acoustic environments currently the bane of both hearing aid and speech recognition technology There is increasing evidence that the perceptual stability characteristic of speech understanding is due at least in part to elegant transformations of the acoustic signal performed by auditory mechanisms As a comprehensive review of
