Paul,1999-09-30 One of the most basic themes in the philosophy of language is referential uptake viz the question of what counts as properly understanding a referring act in communication In this inquiry the particular line pursued goes back to Strawson s work on re identification but the immediate influence is that of Gareth Evans It is argued that traditional and recent proposals fail to account for success in referential communication A novel account is developed resembling Evans account in combining an external success condition with a Fregean one But in contrast to Evans greater emphasis is placed on the action enabling side of communication Further topics discussed include the role of mental states in accounting for communication the impact of re identification on the understanding of referring acts and Donnellan s referential attributive distinction Readership Philosophers cognitive scientists and semanticists
