Supportive Interviewing In Human Service Organizations:

Supportive Interviewing in Human Service Organizations Kenneth France,Michelle Kish,1995 Organizational Histories of Nonprofit Human Service Organizations Michael Austin,2013-09-13 This book is based on an important but complicated question How have nonprofit human service organizations sustained themselves over time It documents the organizational histories of pioneering nonprofits that have unique missions and significant longevity in one case 157 years This volume provides one of the few documented histories of nonprofit human service organizations and includes a cross case analysis of the major themes that help to expand our understanding of organizational lifecycles with respect to organizational growth and resilience The major themes appear in the form of clusters of organizations that are exemplars of leadership experiences of either founding or long term executive directors internal operations capacity to respond to changing community needs and external relations capacity to develop unique and or sustained relationships with funding sources and or donor populations These cases also provide students of nonprofit management with opportunities for case based learning that complements the more time limited and episodic teaching cases which rarely provide learners with a longitudinal perspective of nonprofit organizations This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Evidence Based Social Work

Human Service Organizations and the Question of Impact Jennifer E. Mosley,Steven Rathgeb Smith,2020-06-29 This volume offers empirically based insights and findings on the question of how human service organizations are reacting to the increasing need for greater impact effectiveness and performance As demand for increased impact outstrips our knowledge of how best to achieve these goals the book s contributors discuss the innovative strategies being used to ensure that multiplex goals are being met and the degree to which client and staff concerns are being sacrificed for the organizational bottom line Taken together these discussions demonstrate that specific management strategies and collaboration based on trust and consideration of mission may help improve the quality of some services however many of the pressures which organizations and managers experience are resulting in lower staff morale compromised missions and inefficiencies This book will be of interest to those researching human service agencies as well as those with a broader concern for how organizations react to doing more with less This book was originally published as a special issue of the Human Service Organizations journal
