Strange Meeting:

Strange Meetings Peter Edgerly Firchow, 2008 Building upon his earlier book The Death of the German Cousin 1986 renowned author Peter Edgerly Firchow focuses Strange Meetings on major modern British writers from Eliot to Auden and explores the development of British conceptions and misconceptions of Germany and Germans from 1910 to 1960

Strange Meeting, by Wilfred Owen , As part of Passions in Poetry Ron Carnell provides the full text of the poem entitled Strange Meeting This poem was written by the English poet Wilfred Owen 1893-1918 who is regarded as one of the finest English war poets The Poetry of Shell Shock Daniel Hipp, 2005-07-28 The British poets Wilfred Owen Ivor Gurney and Siegfried Sassoon found themselves psychologically altered by what they experienced in the First World War Owen was hospitalized in April 1917 for shell shock in Scotland where he met Siegfried Sassoon in June of that year hospitalized for the same affliction Ivor Gurney found the war ironically to have been a place of relative stability within an otherwise tormented life When he was wounded during the war's final year his doctors observed signs of mental illness which evolved into incapacitating psychosis by 1922 For each of these men all poets before the war poetry served as a way to inscribe continuity into their lives enabling them to retaliate against the war's propensity to render the lives of the participants discontinuous Poetry allowed them to return to the war through memory and imagination and poetry helped them to bring themselves back from psychological breakdown to a state of stability based upon a relationship to the war that their literary war enabled them to create and discover This work investigates the ways in which the poetry of war functioned as a means for these three men to express the inexpressible and to extract value out of the experience of war Bibliography and index are also included

Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here Enemy Intimacies and Strange Meetings in Writings of Conflict 1800-1918 Holly Furneaux, 2025-04-11 Propaganda others the enemy as brutish brutal and lacking in humanity By contrast a wealth of literary and first hand writings present switches in which the enemy becomes as Wilfred Owen famously put it a strange friend This book focuses on moments of intimacy and reassessment between military enemies truces treatment of the wounded relationships with prisoners of war It is concerned with the work done by declarations of fellow feeling both to challenge and enable militarism The book explores enemy intimacies in literature philosophy and life writings to ask questions about the nature of amity enmity familiarity and otherness It ranges across British conflicts of the long nineteenth century a period in which ideas about the uniqueness of combat experience coalesced with a European effort to secure a distinctive version of so called civilized humanity The sense that soldiers of the other side bonded by experiences unavailable to civilians were just like us came into tension with views about the dissimilarity of other nations and races This book considers which enemies can become familiar and which are held as other investigating dividing lines of nation race religion and culture Enemy Intimacies and Strange Meetings asks how far these affectively powerful encounters can shift individual and wider narratives about civilisation and humanitarianism

Attention to the violence that can be done by claiming and denying fellow feeling is held in tension with hope in the queer possibilities of reoriented compassion This book uncovers a rich cultural history of enemy intimacies to consider different orientations of cosmopolitanism and humanitarian fellow feeling while recognizing and explaining the ways in which full international kinship remains elusive
