Myths and Symbols in J.K. Rowling's *Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone Volker Geyer, 2002-03-23 Seminar paper from the year 2001 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade very good University of Erfurt Anglistics American Studies language English abstract 1 Introduction It's beyond doubt that J K Rowling's Harry Potter books are one of the biggest surprise and success in literature history They influenced the youths reading habits in a never known way What is this great success founded on This question can't be answered sweepingly The reasons are many sided In my opinion an important reason is the combination of the youths real world with the fantastic and mystic world The youths find their real experiences at school with parents friends and enemies combined with a realm of witchcraft symbols superhuman skills and dangerous adventures But a lot of youths know a big part of the mystic world too Subconsciously the old fairy tales and legends are waked up again And so the fascination from childhood days is swinging in the background while reading Harry Potter The youth find again well known symbols and myths e.g. mystic numbers ghosts struggle between good and evil transformation and invisibility animals like dragons owls rats and mystic places like a dark wood an old hut secret passageways etc But they discover or learn about new aspects of the mystic world by reading Harry Potter e.g. the wish for never ending life the philosopher's stone desire and craving meaning of unicorn or the search for wisdom They get new experiences and see some new aspects of their own life These delicate net of myths and symbols woven in the books make them very exiting for adults too Besides some new ideas there are a lot of traditional symbols and myths with different origins and meanings In this paper I am describing only the most important symbols and myths I am going to explain the general meaning from history and the specific meaning in Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone

The Lautsi Papers: Multidisciplinary Reflections on Religious Symbols in the Public School Classroom Jeroen Temperman, 2012-09-06

Increasingly debates about religious symbols in the public space are reformulated as human rights questions and put before national and international judges. Particularly in the area of education legitimate interests are manifold and often collide. Children's educational and religious rights, parental liberties vis-à-vis their children, religious traditions, state obligations in the area of public school education, the state neutrality principle and the professional rights and duties of teachers are all principles that may warrant priority attention. Each from their own discipline and perspective ranging from legal, human rights, scholars, legal philosophers, political scientists, comparative law scholars and country specific legal experts, these experts contribute to the question of whether in the present day pluralist state there is room for state symbolism, e.g. crucifixes in classroom or personal religious signs, e.g. cross necklaces or kirpans or attire, e.g. kippahs or headscarves in the public school classroom.

The book includes an appendix of the transcription of Chinese notes and references, bibliography, chronological tables and index.

Management of Standard Graphic Symbols in a Computer-aided Design and Drafting Environment Using Neural Network

Approaches Der-Shung Yang, 1994

Abstract: Computer Aided Design and Drafting (CADD) systems have become prevalent for producing building design drawings. An ultimate goal of CADD systems is to automate analyses and communication of high level design information extracted from CADD drawings, a difficult task because of the lack of CADD standards. Using standard graphic symbols attached with symbolic information can help, but locating symbols in large libraries is difficult. AUGURS is a new interactive tool designed to assist CADD users in utilizing standard symbols. The task of recognizing symbols sketched by CADD users differs from traditional pattern recognition problems in several ways. Standard libraries have over 1000 symbols grouped into seven disciplines. The large symbol set makes training data difficult to obtain. Since AUGURS is embedded in the CADD system, it must be efficient and compact. Also, it needs to handle irregular distortion in symbols sketched by users These difficulties are lessened by the special output format that requires AUGURS to perform only admissible recognition classifying the input to a small set of plausible symbols The symbol recognition program in AUGURS is a neural network similar to the Neocognitron but is more compact and efficient and having better recognition performance The main thrust of the AUGURS approach is a novel network structure encoded with general knowledge balancing the discriminant power and the noise tolerance of the network To handle large symbol sets another thrust of the AUGURS approach is to construct a network by first building an integrated network from the internal structures of smaller networks trained on sub tasks and then pruning unnecessary components from this integrated network This research contains an extensive empirical study of numerous related work varying conditions and parameters The results demonstrate the superiority of the AUGURS approach over many alternatives including Zipcode Nets an unconstrained network networks using such invariant features as Zernike moments pseudo Zernike moments normalized moments and Fourier Mellin descriptors the Integrated Neural Network and the connectionist gluing approach A practicality analysis shows that AUGURS can handle around 100 symbols about the size of a discipline library To enable AUGURS to handle even more symbols future work is planned to augment it with domain specific knowledge and other improvements
