

LIBERALISATION AND PRIVATIZATION- TELECOMMUNICATION

- ADB funded three technical assistance packages for privatisation in 1992–1993, including one for Telecommunications Restructuring and Privatisation
- The Steering Committees of the TOT, CAT and MOTC agreed with the international consultants' pro-privatisation recommendations and incorporated them into the final draft of the Telecommunications Master Plan (TMP) approved by the Cabinet in 1995.
- 1997 Fincial Crisis → IMF → State domination through its giant SOEs was no longer acceptable.

Infrastructure William H. Lehr,2013-12-16 In the last decade the technology regulation and industry structure of our information infrastructure telephone services cable and broadcast television and myriad new data and information services have changed dramatically Since the break up of AT T s Bell System monopoly telephone services in the United States are no longer purchased from a single firm Advances in fiber optics wireless communications and software controlled switching are changing how communication services are provided As the global economy grows more dependent on a hybrid mix of interconnected networks public officials in the US and abroad are relinquishing control of the market All of these changes are affecting the quality and reliability of the telecommunications infrastructure but informed discussions of the public policy and economic issues are scarce Deregulation and increased competition have lowered prices but have service quality and reliability suffered Do advanced network technologies which make it possible to offer a dizzying array of new services increase vulnerability to system wide failures Who should or is likely to bear the costs of increased or decreased service quality This volume tackles the economic and public policy issues raised by these difficult questions for an audience of industry executives scholars and policymakers Leading scholars and analysts examine such issues as the effects of network ownership on incentives to invest in quality improvements and or strategies for quality differentiated pricing in tomorrow s broadband integrated networks They analyze the quality of current telecommunications networks and the impact of re regulation on cable television quality The contributions range from new microeconomic theory to new empirical research As such the volume makes a valuable contribution to the public debate on network quality and reliability It will be useful both as an introduction to newcomers and as a resource for more experienced researchers As regulatory industry and national barriers to integrated communications fall these issues are likely to become even more important The research presented here provides a solid foundation for further discussion Cases on Telecommunications and Networking Khosrow-Pour, D.B.A., Mehdi,2006-04-30 This book presents a wide range of the most current issues related to the planning design maintenance and management of telecommunications and networking technologies and applications in organizations Provided by publisher Telecommunications Liberalization on Two Sides of the Atlantic Martin Cave,Robert W. Crandall,2004-06-23 A Brookings Institution Press and American Enterprise Institute publication The 1990s witnessed a major revolution in telecommunications policy in North America and Europe The electronics revolution swept the world and most countries began to realize that they could not compete in many markets without a vibrant competitive telecommunications sector As a result the European Union Canada and the United States launched major new liberalization policies aimed at opening all telecommunications markets to competition This report presents two views of the progress towards competition one for North America and one for Europe The authors provide an overview of the market structure on both continents prior to the 1990s discuss significant regulatory changes during that decade and analyze changes in rate structures and competition that have occurred since liberalization They conclude with a look at the present and future impact of the Internet and other new technologies on the telecommunications industry
