The Virtual Campus Gerald C. Van Dusen,1997 The virtual campus is a metaphor for the electronic teaching learning and research environment created by the convergence of several relatively new technologies including but not restricted to the Internet World Wide Web computer mediated communication video conferencing multi media groupware video on demand desktop publishing intelligent tutoring systems and virtual reality The focus of this monograph is of necessity limited to changes occurring in higher education institutions that are committed to reform via technology A survey of the literature finds reform characterized by changes in teaching learning research and scholarly activity organizational culture and governance and finance Section 2 takes up teaching on the virtual campus and how institutional variables influence adoption of information technologies according to their particular missions and goals Section 3 on classroom learning contrasts traditional and virtual classrooms and describes the interface capabilities of various technologies Section 4 explores recent reconceptualizations of scholarship as well as new computer based technologies that are beginning to influence both the methods and substance of research Section 5 depicts efforts to reform both the bureaucratic and academic spheres of higher education institutions by applying principles of Total Quality Management Section 6 delineates some of the important new responsibilities of governing boards including monitoring regulatory legislation establishing a telecommunications policy and shepherding resources for technology The final section draws conclusions from the literature and makes recommendations for institutional planning and research Specifically the seven conclusions are 1 a paradigm shift can occur only in institutions committed to comprehensive reform 2 attempts to change the classroom focus from the sage on the stage to collaborative learning are likely to fail without a substantial commitment to professional development 3 higher education will continue to be market driven requiring redoubled efforts to define academic productivity 4 new constituencies appear to be well served by a variety of available distance learning venues 5 the TQM movement has made impressive inroads in higher education administration however very little penetration has occurred when it most matters on the academic side of the institution 6 even as instructional use of technology rises institutional support for applications development has been dilatory and 7 the historic commitment to core values in traditional undergraduate education has wavered the same vacillation threatens to undermine general education requirements in electronically delivered certificate and degree programs Seven recommendations for beginning this process of integration include 1 create a venue where key stakeholders can analyze major technology issues and purchases 2 assert the value of technology based learning from a variety of research perspectives 3 establish quality standards for certificate and degree programs 4 avoid pitting traditionalists against technology enthusiasts 5 make collaboration and cooperation not reengineering and restructuring the new institutional buzz words 6 retain a strong commitment to adequate library staffing and funding and 7 prepare for success by creating the necessary support structures A glossary of terms is appended Contains 228 references AA

California Virtual Campus Online Survival Guide S.E. Frederickson,2004 From Strategy to Change Daniel James Rowley,Herbert Sherman,2001-04-18 From Strategy to Change shows how to take the next step after a strategic plan has been formulated The authors clearly show how to implement a strategic plan that will meet the myriad challenges of today s complex higher education environment and spell success for the academy It is amazing that while sports teams of colleges and universities meticulously plan their contests against their opponents their institutions administrators don t spend nearly enough time or effort in creating andimplementing a strategy Institutions of higher education seem to be missing the requisite tools to develop and activate their play book With this new age of globally available real time information it becomes increasingly more essential to have a map to help go over and around obstacles avoid the ever present pitfalls and effectively aid in selecting the best route

Literacy, Technology, and Society Gail E. Hawisher,Cynthia L. Selfe,1997 Designed to help readers become critical thinkers about technology not simply consumers of technology The readings span a broad range of topics and genres and include alternative readings available on a World Wide Web site connected to the book An abundance of writing to learn and writing to communicate assignments provide practice in crafting reflective pieces thoughtful analyses of issues argumentative discourse research proposals multimedia projects and other kinds of electronic writing aimed at on line discussion groups

Online and Distance Learning Lawrence A. Tomei,2008 This comprehensive six volume collection addresses all aspects of online and distance learning including information communication technologies applied to education virtual classrooms pedagogical systems Web based learning library information systems virtual universities and more It enables libraries to provide a foundational reference to meet the information needs of researchers educators practitioners administrators and other stakeholders in online and distance learning Provided by publisher Budget Request for Operating and Capital Funds University of Illinois (System),2003 Designing Portals Ali Jafari,Mark C. Sheehan,2003

Portals present unique strategic challenges in the academic environment Their conceptualization and design requires the input of campus constituents who seldom interact and whose interests are often opposite The implementation of a portal requires a coordination of applications and databases controlled by different campus units at a level that may never before have been attempted at the institution Building a portal is as much about constructing intra campus bridges as it is about user interfaces and content Designing Portals Opportunities and Challenges discusses the current status of portals in higher education by providing insight into the role portals play in an institution s business and educational strategy by taking the reader through the processes of conceptualization design and implementation of the portals in different stages of development at major universities and by offering insight from three producers of portal software systems in use at institutions of higher learning and elsewhere
