Yesterdays Enemies:

Yesterday's Enemies Erika M. Feiner, 2003 Poignantly written by a writer who witnessed first hand the American advance in Germany at the end of World War Two

On the Ground Brian Stewart, 2025-09-16 A powerful memoir revealing the pressures joys and traumas of witnessing history up close and personal from one of Canada's most prominent and decorated foreign correspondents Provided by publisher

The Fragmenting Force of Memory Norman Saadi Nikro, 2012-04-25 This study is about experimental forms of cultural production that situate and work through personal experiences of the civil war in Lebanon It addresses selected works of literature autobiography and memoir by Jean Said Makdisi Rashid al Daif Elias Khoury and Mai Ghossoub and the civil war trilogy of documentary films by Mohamed Soueid From a phenomenological hermeneutic perspective the book is concerned with how they give accounts of themselves as remnants leftovers and undigested remains of the civil war and of related trajectories of ideological attachment to symbolic mandates Constrained to reposition their sense of self from an agent of history to a casualty of history their acutely personal works of cultural production initiate an unraveling of both self and circumstance through the fragmenting force of memory Drawing on a broad range of phenomenological critical theory within the research fields of postcolonial memory psychoanalytic gender and literary studies attuned to subjectivity as a field of social production and exchange emphasis is given to how the writers and filmmaker employ a non presentist anachronic or paratactic register of memory to excavate both a historical understanding of self and related modalities of social viability This concerns how the symptomatic style of their work embodies and creatively and critically situates a refusal to package and normalize any idealized account of the war related assemblages of temporal succession or a presentation of self as discrete and omniscient

Geopolitics from the Ancient World to the Russian-Ukraine War Nika Chitadze, 2025-12-12 The main purpose of this book is to implement deep research on the theoretical and practical aspects of Geopolitics the overview of the role and place of geopolitics in the scientific system the main geopolitical thoughts and concepts from ancient times till the modern period and analyze the current geopolitical realities especially after the starting of the Russia Ukraine war in 2022 The practical topics include important aspects of the new geopolitical order the process of globalization national security and military strategy interests of the leading geopolitical players USA EU NATO China Russia etc and geopolitical situations in the different regions of the world The book covers the global processes and will attract the interests of the representatives of different target groups from the whole world and can be introduced in the study materials of various universities especially at the faculties of Political Sciences International Relations World Geography and Security Studies
